Poison Kills 900 Salmon At Nicasio

But Drinking Water Safe, Health Officers Report

By JEFF GREER

Poison dumped into Nicasio Creek has killed some 900 young salmon since Wednesday, but Marin County residents are in no danger of deadly drinking water, state and local health officers reassured today.

Several containers bearing labels showing they held toxic chemicals—including a gallon can of cadmium sulfide rat poison—have been found in the stream and on its bank by sheriff's deputies, state fish and game wardens, and state and local health department workers.

The yearling salmon have been the only victims of the poisons. The pollution apparently is dissipating. State Fish and Game employee Woodrow W. Quinn said no more dead fish turned up today in his traps downstream from the poison site.

The Nicasio Reservoir, which the stream feeds, is a source of supply for Marin Municipal Water District. District Mgr. William R. Seeger said, however, that the reservoir's contents will not be used until late summer, and then only if laboratory tests show the water to be safe.

SO DILUTED

The reservoir holds 7.5 billion gallons. Seeger said even several gallons of poison would be so diluted that any danger would disappear.

The district never draws from Nicasio Reservoir until late summer anyway, Seeger said.

State health deparament pollution experts have warned Lucas Valley Road residents along the creek of the danger. Tests are being run in the department's Berkeley laboratories as well as in State Fish and Game offices in San Francisco.

The poisons apparently got into the stream Wednesday when a tenant identified as Paul De Fibau was moving out of a house he had rented for the past six months two miles east of Nicasio. Fish and Game Warden Albert F. Giddings Sr., said he understood DeFibau, who moved to San Francisco, is a chemist.

INTERVIEW

DeFibau was schedued to return to Marin County today to be interviewed by Giddings and other authorities to find how containers with labels indicating poisonous contents got into the stream.

Also dumped into the water was a brilliant green dye. It was this that first brought the poisoning to light.

Mrs. David Van Pelt, a neighber of DeFibau, spotted the "ghastly green" water Wednesday evening and notified Quinn.

The fish expert found more than 600 young salmon dead in the stream. He estimated that another 300 died overnight.

The first search turned up the gallon container labelled cadmium sulphide, in the creek. Other containers later were found along the banks and in a trash heap nearby. Their labels indicated a variety of substances, Giddings said.

State fish and game spokesmen in San Francisco said no charge had been filed by noon today.

Resignations 'In Abeyance,' Brown Says

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Brown decided today to "hold in abeyance" his acceptance of the resignations of two State Alcoholic Beveral Control Appeals Board members he earlier said had "accepted courtesies" from a licensee. (See earlier story, page 3.)

The governor's turnabout dedision apparently came on the spur of the moment at a news conference he held in his Capitol office with board members Robert H. Haden, 45, of Merced, and Arthur Belcher, 60, of Hillsborough.

Brown first announced that he had accepted the resignations of the two men. He said they had been "indiscreet" but that there was "absolutely no dishonesty of any nature, kind or discription" involved.

Haden, speaking for the two men, then said they had submitted their resignations "to avoid causing the governor any embarrassment whatsoever."

Four Klansmen Arrested In Ambush Death Of Alabama Rights Worker

MRS. ANTHONY LIUZZO
Victim in Alabama

Mother Of Five Slain On Route Of March

LOWNDESBORO, Ala. (AP)—Four Ku Klux Klansmen from the Birmingham area were arrested by FBI agents today on charges of conspiracy in the ambush slaying of a Detroit white woman, shot to death near here after joining a civil rights march. (See related stories, photos, page 16).

President Johnson announced the arrest in Washington only 16½ hours after the killing of Mrs. Viola Gregg Liuzzo, 39, an attractive mother of five.

FBI agents arrested the four men in Birmingham on warrants issued by a federal commissioner at Montgomery.

Scores of agents who were in the Selma-Montgomery area because of the simmering racial troubles kicked up by a Negro voter drive swarmed into an intensive investigation under direct orders from the President.

It was learned that the FBI got a lead in the slaying very quickly, and the arrests by agents in Birmingham soon followed.

The four white men arrested on charges of conspiracy to violate the civil rights of the gunshot victim were Eugene Thomas, 43, and William Orville Eaton, 41, both of Bessemer; Gary Thomas Rowe, 31, of Birmingham, and Collie LeRoy Wilkins Jr., 21, of Fairfield, Ala.

President Johnson went on national television to disclose the arrests after promising the victims anguished husband a full investigation.

Johnson said Mrs. Liuzzo, a student at Wayne State University, was murdered by the enemies of justice who had used "the rope and the gun and tar and feathers" to terrorize people.

"I have fought them all my life because their loyalty is not to the United States of America, but to a society of hooded bigots," the President said.

Gov. George C. Wallace, who had posted a $1,000 reward — maximum allowed by Alabama law — declined to comment on the arrests.

Earlier he said he regretted the slaying.

Robert M. Shelton Jr. of Tuscaloosa, Ala., the imperial wizard of the United Klans, said he knew nothing of the slaying but

ON WAY HOME

Marin Marchers Finally Get Rest

Their role in the historic Selma-to-Montgomery civil rights march ended, Marin County people started the trip home today.

Among them was a bus load of students and teachers from the San Francisco Theological Seminary, San Anselmo. The bus riders telephoned relatives in San Anselmo this morning from Dallas, Tex. Aboard were at least two persons who made the entire march: seminary president Theodore A. Gill and graduate student Richard F. Dickenson of 108 Ross Street, San Anselmo.

Dr. Gill said he would stay on the bus until it reached Amarillo, Tex., or Albuquerque, N.M., then would fly to Marin. He reported he got his "first decent sleep all week" when he dozed for seven hours last night aboard the bus.

Dickenson was even more tired, however, because he had been carrying on a dual role in the course of the four-day march, and getting virtually no sleep.

By day, Dickenson marched. At night, he stood guard at camp sites while other marchers slept.

Most of the seminary students assisted a group of professional circus roustabouts in pitching tents at the camps.

News of their progress on the return trip was flashed over the campus by a telephone "grapevine" network, established earlier in the week to keep everyone informed of events in Alabama.

Seminary information director Ed Owen said the group expects to arrive in San Anselmo Sunday morning. Arrival time, they predicted, will be from 3 to 7 a.m., "depending on how tired of sandwiches we get."

Two others who have already returned are Rev. G. Russell Oaks, pastor of the Mill Valley Methodist Church, and Tamalpais High School English teacher Maxwell Hull.

County Schools Office Shift May Bring In $940,000

By RICHARD LYTTLE

The proposed shift of the county schools offices to space in the McGraw-Hill building in Corte Madera will mean a windfall of $940,000 in state and federal money, County Administrator Alan Bruce reported today.

If the schools office is moved, the County Health Department office can be moved to the Civic Center and the county can sell the property in San Rafael occupied by the health department, he said.

Under the federal Hill-Harris Act and complementary state legislation, the county can get up to two-thirds of the construction cost of space provided for health department offices.

Bruce anticipates that only seven million dollars of the proposed bonds for construction of the Hall of Justice would need to be sold if the schools-health department shift goes through.

County voters are being asked to approve 7.75 million in bonds on June 8.

Bruce said part of the money from the sale of the health office in San Rafael would have to be returned to the federal and state governments under provisions of the same Hill-Harris Act, but the value of the property has gone up since construction, so the county would realize a profit.

The county has been negotiating for several months for rental of 17,000 square feet in the McGraw-Hill building. The schools office now occupies 11,000 square feet in the Civic Center.

McGraw-Hill plans to move to Novato when its new plant there is completed a year hence.

Bruce said the size of the bond issue going before votes will remain the same despite the prospect of the windfall.

"It will be good insurance," he said.

SAIGON (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor is scheduled to leave tomorrow for talks in Washington with President Johnson, a spokesman said today.

Weatherman Says Skies To Clear

Rain and light showers dampened Marin County last night and today but the Weather Bureau predicted clearing skies tomorrow.

Most of Northern and Central California had rain, and snow fell in the Sierra where chains are required on Highway 50 east of Placerville to Meyers and on Interstate 80 between Baxter and Truckee.

Woodacre, Fairfax, and the Chevy Chase area in Larkspur reported the largest amount of rainfall in Marin, .10 of an inch to 8 a.m. today. Mill Valley, Sausalito and Point Reyes Station reported .08 of an inch; Novato, .05; Larkspur and Santa Venetia, .04, and Ross, .03. By noon, the rain gauge atop the Independent-Journal building in San Rafael recorded .03 of an inch.

Navy Bombers Strike At N. Vietnam Radar

COMBINED AP & UPI

SAIGON — U.S. Navy warplanes bombed four North Vietnamese radar installations today, including one on an island 75 miles south of the Chinese Communist mainland. It was the deepest penetration of the air war.

A spokesman said two of the more than 40 carrier-based jet fighter-bombers in the mission "ditched" in the South China Sea on the return flight, but both pilots were rescued. A third plane, a propeller-powered Skyraider, made a crash landing at the American air base at Da Nang. The pilot was not injured.

The spokesman said two of the targets were "heavily damaged" and two "moderately damaged." He said the strike was designed to deprive the Communists of advance warning of future air strikes and that today's raids "seriously downgraded" this warning capacity.

One of the radar installations was located on Bach Long Vy Island in the Gulf of Tonkin. It is abuot midway between the North Vietnamese coast and the Communist Chinese island of Hainan. Bach Long Vy is 90 miles off the coast and 140 miles east of Hanoi, the North Vietnamese capital.

The other targets were at Ha Tinh, Cap Mui Ron and Vinh Son. Vinh Son is the northernmost of the three—about 160

Workers Killed By Huge Hammer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Two piledriver crewmen were killed and driven into the mud today when a huge iron hammer broke loose on the waterfront.

The bodies of Michael Clement, 50, of San Leandro and Nicholas Manrique, 41, of San Francisco were recovered from muddy Islais Creek at the foot of Army Street by divers and the Coast Guard.

The employees of Monson-General Co. were crushed when the three-foot thick hammer slipped and crashed into the mud, driving the men down beneath it.

The project is part of the $50 million San Francisco Port Authority job.

Regents Reject Asking For U.C. Plan Of Action

BERKELEY (AP) — Regents of the University of California rejected today a bid to have acting chancellor Martin Meyerson spell out how he might handle any graduate student unrest arising out of the regents' decision to rule out graduate student membership in the Associated Students on the Berkeley campus.

Regent John E. Canaday, citing a newspaper report that graduate students had found the regents' action yesterday "horrendous," urged that Meyerson explain how he might meet trouble from the students.

But other regents agreed unanimously not to put the question to the 42-year-old chancellor on the grounds that they would be asking him to prejudge his action.

Johnson Calls Space Flight Great, Vital

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson decorated today the two space heroes of the Gemini flight which he said has proved the "great, vital and useful" role of man in space.

The President rejected, for the United States, the concept of a space program devoted to "stunts and spectaculars."

Then Johnson presented to Virgil I. Grissom and John W. Young, the team which pioneered on Tuesday the first maneuvered space flight, the Exceptional Service Medal of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. (See also story, photo, page 2.)

For Grissom, the first man to make two space flights, there was a further honor — a cluster for the Distinguished Service Medal he won in 1961. His exploits, the citation said, exemplified "the highest qualities of courage, leadership and competence."

Two civilian leaders of the space effort were honored with the Exceptional Service Medal

Astronauts Say Ship Cut Reentry Rigors

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—The Gemini-3 spaceship that gave space twins Virgl I. (Gus) Grissom and John W. Young a three-orbit ride around earth reduced the rigors of reentry by half.

By gliding their capsule into earth's atmosphere, the astronauts felt only four times the pull of gravity instead of the eight experinced when one-man Mercury ships dived into earth's thick air.

"This is a very significant thing and gives oldtimers like myself maybe a chance they will be able to stand the rigors of space travel," Dr. Robert Gilruth, director of the space agency's manned Spacecraft Center, said at the astronauts' news conference Thursday.

Some scientists fear possible ill effects to astronauts facing high gravity forces after being in the weightlessness of space for long periods of time.

The one jolt that did occur during the pioneering Gemini mission last Tuesday knocked a hole in the face plate of Grissom's helmet and scratched Young's face plate.

Grissom said the mishap occurred when the parachute suspension system on the capsule switched from a single line on the craft's nose to a three-point connecting system to position the spacecraft for landing.

"When I went to the three point attitude, this thing flops down very hard and John and I both hit the windshield. This was the biggest surprise to me in the whole day. I thought for a minute that the chute was gone."

Grissom said the rest of the four hour and 54 minute flight went off better than expected.

"The spacecraft performed so well that we really didn't expect it to work this good on the first flight," the veteran space pilot said.

"John and I felt terrific about the whole thing. We are looking forward to other and longer flights."

Ranger 9 Spots Places Where Spaceship Can Land

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Ranger 9 found two and possibly three spots for the America's Apollo spaceship and its two-man crew to land on the moon.

The information was relayed to President Johnson and the cabinet yesterday by James E. Webb, head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

It was based on a preliminary survey of the more than 5,000 pictures that Ranger 9 took Wednesday morning as it zeroed in on the crater Alphonsus. Rangers 7 and 8 had photographed plains areas of the moon's surface.

Webb told reporters after the cabinet session that the Ranger 9 photographs enabled U.S. lunar experts to "now know there are two spots —probably three — where we can land on the moon, but we will need and get lots of other information."

Kennedy Climb Called Tough

SEATTLE (AP)—Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and two mountaineers, who kept him from plunging into a crevasse near the summit of Mount Kennedy, say the climb was tougher than they expected.

James W. Whittier of Seattle and Barry Prather of Ellensburg, Wash., veterans of the 1963 American Mount Everest expedition, said the previously unclimbed mountain was not an easy peak, and expressed admiration for the stamina of the New York senator.

Kennedy said he slipped up to his armpits into a crevasse about 800 feet below the summit of the nearly 14,000-foot mountain named by the Canadian government for his brother, the late President John F. Kennedy.

Wirtz Finds Farms Good, 'Filthy'

VENTURA (AP) — Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz took a look at Southern California's farm labor situation today after finding Central California farm labor facilities both good and "filthy."

Wirtz praised plans yesterday by some Central growers to recruit American farm workers.

But a visit to a Salinas labor camp left him "ashamed anything like this exists in this country," he told newsmen.

Wirtz arrived in California Wednesday to meet with growers, labor contractors and farm workers in the controversy over whether growers should be permitted to hire foreign workers to meet what they call emergency harvest needs.

He was to tour the Riverside-Imperial Valley area today.

Moon Photos May Aid Russ

MOSCOW (AP) — American photographs of the moon's surface may help the Soviet Union in its attempt to land a cosmonaut on the moon before the United States, a Soviet astronomer says.

Professor Alexander Markov told the Soviet news ageney Tass yesterday that Soviet scientists are studying photos taken last year by the American Ranger 7 satellite. He said they were supplied by "American colleagues."

The Soviets have not hit the lunar surface with a satellite since 1959. Their last announced moon probe, in 1963, missed.

LeMay Warns Russ May Be Developing Space Weapons

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, retired Air Force chief of staff, warns that Russia may be developing space weapons that would give the Soviets military superiority over the United States.

Lemay told a dinner of the National Security Industrial Association last night that the Soviet Union may develop weapons that would leapfrog U.S. military progress and upset the balance of power which has existed since World War II.

The retired four-star general, who left the Air Force's top post Feb. 1, also warned that Red China is capable of developing intercontinental missiles with nuclear warheads. He said this would be an "extremely serious threat to the United States."

Although U.S. military power is supreme now, LeMay said, the nation is following a "conservative" weapons development program that could jeopardize its lead.

The country that gains military superiority in the future will be the one which has "vision and purpose to capitlize on the promises of technology," he said.

Lemay said that the military, industrial and scientific communities formed an "unofficial but essential alliance," forged originally during World War II.

The alliance produced the abundance of weapons which deterred "a giant of a nation —Russia—and forced it to alter its oppressive course in the postwar years, Lemay said.

A.F. Colonel Drowns In Sea

BODEGA BAY (AP) — An Air Force colonel drowned and two fellow officers had to be rescued in rough seas yesterday after their fishing boat capsized off Bodega Head.

The Coast Guard said the body of Col. Steedley P. Hawkins was picked up by fisherman who alerted rescue parties that Air Force Maj. Melbourne Kimsey and Capt. John Crawley were stranded on Bodega Rock.

Hawkins was deputy commander of operations for the Strategic Air Command's 5th Bomber Wing at Travis Air Force Base, where Kimsey and Crawley both served.

The Coast Guard said the officers' 18-foot boat was off the seaward side of Bodega Rock when a sudden swell overturned it. Hawkins apparently hit his head on the capsized boat and drowned.

ALCOHOL AIDES DENY CHARGE

Two Members Of Control Board Say No Courtesies Accepted; No One Quit

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two members of the State Alcoholic Beverage Control Appeals Board today denied reports that they "accepted courtesies" from a licensee with a case pending before the board.

The men, Arthur Belcher, 60, of Hillsborough, and Robert H. Haden, 45, of Merced, also denied they had resigned, as reported by the governor's office yesterday.

Belcher termed the situation "a misunderstanding which we hope to clear up with the governor in Sacramento today."

Winslow Christian, Gov. Brown's executive secretary, said yesterday that the men had resigned after reports that they had accepted courtesies from a licensee with a case up before the board.

"Gov. Brown felt that the conduct of the members in this case did not meet the standards he had set for members of the administration and the two members resigned," said Christian.

Belcher and Haden said the governor telephoned them yesterday saying he "was going to have to ask for our resignations."

"We told him that since we were appointed at his pleasure, we would accept his decision, but that we were certain it was a misunderstanding and first wanted to talk to him," Haden said.

An aide in Brown's office said yesterday that the governor did not ask for the resignations, but neither did he advise them to stay on the job.

Belcher and Haden said the situation arose after they were the dinner guests Tuesday in San Diego of Dominic Tavaglione, a friend of Haden and member of the State Athletic Commission.

Haden said Tavaglione, of Riverside, took them to dinner at the La Mesa Bowl, a bowling alley restaurant.

"I don't know who picked up the tab," said Belcher. "I have every reason to believe that my host did. I can't swear to it."

Belcher said he and Haden did not know until yesterday that "this was a place that was going to appeal a decision from the Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control."

Haden said the idea that he and Belcher could ultimately influence important decisions was "rediculous." "We're just middlemen," he said. "Our decisions can be appealed up to the State Supreme Court and sometimes are."

Belcher has been on the appeals board over six years, Haden more than four.

Handbag Stolen From Car Trunk

Theft of a handbag and $8 cash from the trunk of the automobil of Mrs. Eva Moystad, 1 Westbrae Drive, Fairfax, was reported by sheriff's officers yesterday.

Mrs. Moystad told them the car was parked Tuesday at Las Galinas Golf Course. No forced entry was evident.

Reno Nat Romnin, 2464 Vineyard Road, Novato, reported carburetor and manifold, total value of $150, were taken from his car parked in a garage near his home earlier this week.

Tough Laws Urged For Pornography

SAN DIEGO (AP) — An estimated 300 San Diego clergymen have urged the State Assembly Committee on Criminal Procedure to tighten the laws on the control of pornography.

The group voted at a meeting yesterday to ask the committeemen to approve bills enabling local government to pass its own pornography control laws.

San Diego County Dist. Atty. Don Keller, said the anti-pornography campaign should stress protection for children and suggested that the control laws be placed in the Welfare and Institutions Code rather than in the Penal Code, as is now proposed.

John J. Irwin, former Assistant U.S. Atty. for Southern California and a Deputy Mayor of Los Angeles, called the present state law weak because it exempts material that has any redeeming social importance.

"We are just spinning our wheels unless that phrase is removed," Irwin said.

Assembly Bill No. 1313 would remove the phrasing to strengthen the law.

In a panel discussion, Mayor Cecil Sparling of Chula Vista said that one of the nation's largest producers of objectionable pocketbooks now publishes in San Diego. He said smut publishers now are organizing and becoming more brazen.

The meeting was sponsored by the San Diego County Ministerial Association.

Coin Chairman

The Marin Coin Club announced today that Jack Repp of San Rafael will be chairman for the coin show to be held May 15 and 16 at American Legion Hall in Mill Valley.

Filthy Speech Action At U.C. Is Delayed

BERKELEY (AP)—A special committee of the University of California regents has heeded a request by Acting Chancellor Martin Meyerson not to take action yet on students involved in the recent Berkeley "filthy speech movement."

And regents indicated yesterday that the question of Berkeley discipline would not be brought before the full board session today.

Meyerson asked the Committee on Educational Policy to allow hearings to proceed on students involved in the March 4-5 four-letter word demonstration. At that time nine persons, including six non-students, were arrested for flaunting a four-letter sex word.

Although the chancellor objected to the hearing procedure, calling it "inappropriate for an academic community," he said a faculty committee on student political activity should be allowed to continue the hearings.

Regent Max Rafferty, state superintendent of public instruction, opened yesterday's committee meeting with a move to introduce a recommendation for immediate dismissal of students found guilty in the obscene word furor. But the motion failed to receive any spport.

The educational policy committee agreed not to take action on discipline at least until after Regent Theodore Meyer's special investigating committee reports its findings — possibly at the April meeting.

The Meyer committee has already recommended immediate dismissal of filthy-word agitators, and it was that committee recommendation that Rafferty had attempted to introduce.

Meyerson reported that hearings are also being held for three students involved in the sale of the off-campus magazine, Spider. The first issue appeared 10 days ago carrying the same four-letter word that aroused the campus earlier this month.

The chancellor reported that last Tuesday's campus ban on the magazine was being respected, although a few issues were sold Wednesday. He told the regents that the magazine is sold in the Associated Students bookstore because it is "a voluntary area, like a library, where you choose what you wish."

19 Below Zero

NEW YORK (UPI)—The lowest temperature reported to the U.S. Weather Bureau yesterday, excluding Alaska and Hawaii, was 18 below zero at Duluth and Brainerd, both in Minnesota. The highest reported yesterday was 91 at Presidio and McAllen, both in Texas.

Big Cleanup Due Novato Cemetery

The old Novato Cemetery on Simmons Lane in Novato, long the scene of damage by vandals, will be the scene of a massive cleanup campaign all day tomorrow, as more than 200 people go to work on it.

Cleanup of the cemetery, first step toward turning it into a pioneed memorial park, is being sponsored by the Novato Junior Chamber of Commerce and the North Marin Youth Council.

The youth council has promised to have more than 200 teenage youths out to do the work.

The Novato Parks and Recreation Department, and the youth council will give free tickets to an April 3 teen dance to each youth who helps with the work, according to recreation director Edward W. Adams.

Novato Lions and Kiwanis clubs will provide refreshments.

The city public works department will have a six man crew, two trucks and a loader to help remove the brush and debris.

Sure there's a difference between the luxury '65 Chevrolet and expensive cars

You can put most of it in your savings account

Maybe you've only seen them on the street so far. If so, come on in and see a Jet-smooth '65 Chevrolet right in our showroom. We think you'll do a double-take when you get up close enough for a look at that price sticker. Most people do. Because the major difference between this one and cars that cost quite a bit more is simply—price.

Take room, for example. Chevrolet has more of it than many expensive cars do. You get extra foot room with the new frame and forward engine design. And those handsome curved side windows are one reason for all of the extra shoulder room, front and rear.

And there's plenty of luxury. The smartly functional instrument panel is easy to read, puts everything at your fingertips as well. Color-keyed interiors feature tastefully rich fabrics and vinyls, foam-cushioned seating and plush deep-twist carpeting. And even the low-cost Bel Airs and Biscaynes include these luxury touches.

There's a great choice of power, from Chevrolet's economical, spirited 140-hp Turbo-Thrift Six on up. And that famous Jet-smooth ride is even better this year. A new Full Coil suspension, new wider tread and over 700 sound and shock absorbers work together to give you the feeling there's a foot of air between you and the road.

You can tailor the car exactly to your taste, too—with nearly 200 custom touches. So let our salesmen show how easily your present car and low monthly payments will have you driving a beautiful '65 Chevrolet nearly as quickly as you've read this message.

Four Klansmen Arrested In Alabama Rights Slaying

"it would appear to me that according to Johnson everyone in Alabama is Ku Klux Klansmen."

"'I don't have any knowledge of any participation in any acts of violence by any members of our organization," the Klan leader said.

The President later called for legislation to control the Klan. He directed Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach to draft such legislation to follow the new voting rights bill.

Johnson suggested congressional committees might want to start immediate investigations. Rep. Charles L. Weltner, D-Ga., has been pushing for a Klan probe by the House un-American Activities Committee.

"If any Klansmen hear my voice," the President said, "this is both an appeal and a warning to get out of the Ku Klux Klan and enter decent society now—before it is too late."

Mrs. Liuzzo, a reddish-haired, vivacious woman, was killed by a bullet in the temple. A Negro companion told of a car pulling alongside and gunfire splattering the car on a lonely stretch of highway 26 miles east of Selma.

The murder was almost identical in pattern to the highway ambush of a Negro educator, Lemuel Penn of Washington, D.C., in north Georgia last July. In that case, the FBI arrested three Klansmen. Two were tried on state charges of murder and acquitted. The federal conspiracy charges are on appeal.

It was the third time in recent racial troubles that federal agents moved in and made arrests under the old conspiracy statute. The other arrests were in the slaying of three civil rights workers in Mississippi last year.

Bullets from a passing car slammed into the white 1963 Oldsmobile driven by Mrs. Liuzzo on a lonely stretch of U.S. 80 in rural Lowndes County.

Col. Albert J. Lingo, state public safety director, said the shooting occurred about 8:30 p.m. There was no official description of the type of weapon used in the killing.

The victim's companion, Leroy Moton, 19, Negro, a barber in Selma, said they were returning to Montgomery for more passengers after taking one group back to Selma following the march.

Moton said that after the shooting he flagged a passing car for a ride back to Selma.

He ran to a city policeman at Old Browns Chapel A.M.E. Church at 9:10 p.m. and reported the shooting.

Johnson Beautification Plan Running Into Budget Snag

Advance News Service

WASHINGTON — President Johnson's campaign to beautify America is running into its first big snag—right in his own budget.

Buried in Johnson fiscal 1966 spending program is a cost-cutting scheme that would require farmers, ranchers, and other landowners to pay the government for help in preserving their land.

Such help has been given free of charge by the soil conservation service since 1935.

But the Budget Bureau, which is reversing the policy, thinks landowners and the government should share equally in the cost of designing and installing layouts which prevent soil erosion and conserve water.

The effect of such a step, if it is adopted, would run counter to Johnson's own goal of cleaning up the countryside, conservationists contend. For there are many landowners who either can't or won't pay the money to keep up their property.

The Budget Bureau's proposal lay almost unnoticed in the budget, which went to Congress Jan. 25, until after Johnson sent his beauty message to Capitol Hill on Feb. 8.

The president said in the beauty message that he was asking Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman to work out a cooperative state and local program "for improving the beauty of privately owned rural lands."

In view of the proposed cutback on soil conservation service activities, conservationists think this strikes a particularly poignant note.

The Budget Bureau says $20 million will be saved under the change. A spokesman explained that since farmers benefit from the service, they should pay part of the cost. He said the change is in line with other austerity proposals such as one requiring meat packers to pay the cost of government inspection.

More than a million landowners received government help last year, when about 2.5 million acres of former cropland were converted to grass and tree production. Agriculture officials estimate that 97 per cent of all privately owned land is eligible.

To get help, a landowner takes his problem to the local soil conservation district council which then passes the request to the federal area office. Soil scientists and land engineers then visit the owner to survey his property and draw up a program of improvement. Materials and muscle are supplied by the land. owner. Supervision is free.

Elderly Couple Hurt In Crash

An elderly Sunnyvale couple were hospitalized after their car went over a 20-foot embankment on Highway 101 north of the Black Point cutoff shortly before noon today.

Mrs. Cora D. Duernberger, 75, the driver, suffered undetermined injuries to chest and back, and facial cuts and bruises. Her husband, George W. Duernberger, 74, was cut on face and head. Both were hospitalized at Novato Hospital.

The California Highway Patrol, reported Mrs. Duernberger passed a car driven by E/5 Elijah Williams, 28, of San Francisco, who is stationed at Hamilton Air Force Base, northbound. The Duernberger car hit the front of the Williams' car, according to the patrol. The Williams car was thrown onto the shoulder. The Duernberger car went down the embankment.

Williams was uninjured.

miles south of Hanoi. It has been raided previously.

In Saigon, the World Health Organization (WHO) said a bubonic plague outbreak was reported in the capital city and seven other areas of the country.

The disease was a major killer in Europe during the Middle Ages, but the development of a serum has reduced the danger of epidemic in modern times. All of the 28,000 American troops in South Viet Nam are immunized against the disease.

A spokesman for WHO said there were 19 confirmed cases of the plague and three deaths during the period from Feb. 28 to March 18. Two of the deaths were reported in Saigon and the third in Binh Dinh Province, an area 300 miles northeast of the capital.

The other confirmed cases were in Darlac, Kien Hoa, Pleiku, Nha Trang, Bien Hoa and Long Khanh Provinces.

In Tokyo, Communist North Korea joined Peking today in offering to send men and arms to South Viet Nam if the Viet Cong ask for help.

The offer was made in a government statement broadcast by Pyongyang Radio. Peking made a similar offer yesterday.

North Korea said: "Under the condition in which the U.S. imperialists are steadily expanding the war, the Democratic People's Republic of Korea government will take measures for sending volunteers to South Viet Nam at any time the South Viet Nam National Liberation Front requests.

North Korea also again accused the United States of being behind the dispatch recently of 2,000 South Korean troops to aid the South Vietnamese army. The South Korean government said its troops would be used for noncombat duty.

re-birth of our nation," declared Oaks on his return.

"The beginning of the end has arrived for an outdated and over-rated social class system."

Rev. Oaks said Alabama Negroes were somehow able to find room for each new "pilgrim" who went to their small, crowded homes.

"Where the food came from is a mystery," he said. "The gospel story of the loaves and the fishes takes on new credibility after Selma."

Hull was interviewed by student Jack Arago.

"It's nice," he told Arago, "to be back and see white people you don't have to be afraid of."

He said a highlight of the civil rights movement is the explosion of myths about what kind of people Negroes are and the way they live.

In another phase of local involvement with the Alabama civil rights movement, Mrs. William J. Jackson today reported that Marin residents have contributed $2,178 to the James Reeb Memorial Fund, of which she is chairman.

Collection stations, many manned by seminary students who stayed in Marin, have been maintained at stores, shopping centers and other locations for the past two weeks. Proceeds go to Rev. Martin Luther King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference to further civil rights work.

Contributions may be mailed to Box 4036, Civic Center Post Office, San Rafael.

Nazi Ruling Sparks Crisis

BONN (UPI) — A government crisis erupted today as a result of Parliament's decision to legalize West Germany's hunt for Nazi murderers another four and one-half years.

Minister of Justice Ewald Bucher submitted a letter of resignation last night rather than sign a law on the statute of limitations which he and other free Democratic members of Chancellor Ludwig Erhard's coalition government opposed.

Bucher's decision sparked a political crisis six months before the next parliamentary elections, scheduled for Sept. 19.

Singer's Estate Is Being Sued

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Bertha Franklin, the motel manager who fatally shot singer Sam Cooke, has filed a $200,000 personal injury suit against his estate.

In the suit filed yesterday in Superior Court. Mrs. Franklin claimed that the Negro star struck her with his hands and fist last Dec. 11 before she shot him.

A coroner's jury ruled that Cooke's death was justifiable homicide. Mrs. Franklin said the singer broke into her apartment-office looking for a female companion.

U.S. Gets Russ Viet Complaints

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin presented to Secretary of State Dean Rusk today Moscow's complaints about U.S. actions in Viet Nam.

Dobrynin, after spending slightly more than an hour in Rusk's office, told newsmen that he had not used the word "protest." The Soviets are calling for an end to what they say is U.S. aggression in Viet Nam.

"We discussed the situation in Southeast Asia, and I explained the position of my government in connection with events in Southeast Asia, in particular in Viet Nam and Laos," Dobrynin said.

Parents Support College's Camp

More than 70 parents and teachers of Fairfax School District sixth grade students Wednesday supported a proposed three-day camping program conducted by San Francisco State College.

Victor York, assistant professor of recreation leadership at the college, said today that registration forms for the new program will be sent to the children's parents next month.

"The support the program received last night has encouraged us to continue with plans for the sessions. If at least 75 per cent of the children are enrolled, the students will have a camping session in Devil's Gulch at Samuel P. Taylor State Park May 5-7 or May 19-21," York said.

Rafferty: U.C. Needs Backbone

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — State Superintendent of Public Instruction Max Rafferty said today that the University of California's Berkeley campus has "been turned over to a bunch of bearded clowns.

"What we need in Berkeley," Rafferty said, "is a little more backbone on the part of the regents, administration and faculty . . . The administration has been operating under archaic rules, and as a result there is no discipline."

Raffedty, an ex-officio member of the U.C. Board of Regents, made the statement at a news conference prior to the opening session of a meeting of the California Association of Secondary School Administrators.

'Dorado Ruling' Case Reversed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The California Supreme Court has ruled that its landark Dorado decision applies only after arrest.

The new ruling reversed the murder conviction of a Los Angeles man.

The court ruled 5-2 yesterday that Roy Allen Stewart was entitled to a new trial because police obtained a confession from him without telling him of his right to either, remain silent or have a lawyer present.

Stewart was sentenced to death in 1963 for the fatal beating of a Los Angeles woman in a purse snatching.

In the Dorado case, now on appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court, the State Supreme Court said that once suspicion rests on a principal suspect, he must be told of his right to counsel or to refrain from answering questions.

The court's opinion yesterday added the qualification that the suspect's right applies only after he has been arrested and police attempt to extract incriminting information.

Stewart was convicted of killing Miss Lucille O. Mitchell of Los Angeles Jan. 19, 1963, by knocking her down and kicking her during a robbery.

The court's majority opinion, written by Justice Matthew O. Tobriner, said the new Dorado requirements were met in Stewart's case because he had been arrested and had been in custody five days while officers questioned him.

The parent case involved Robert B. Dorado, a San Quentin prisoner condemned to death for the fatal beating of a fellow convict.

New Business Aid Is Pledged

City Administrator Douglas Flautt appeared before the San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce board yesterday to offer the city's help in an attempt to fill several empty store buildings on San Anselmo Avenue.

Flautt said sales tax revenue for the city has been rising, but empty buildings on the main street are harmful in recruiting new businesses.

The problem was turned over to the chamber's merchant committee and Flautt was added to the group.

Seashore Fund Bill Introduced

A bill to provide an additional $30.5 million to buy land for Point Reyes National Seashore was introduced in the U.S. Senate yesterday by Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel.

Kuchel said the original $14 million appropriated in 1962 has been exhausted.

He said he hopes financing can be obtained from the Land and Water Conservation Fund.

Dearth Remains In Fair Condition

R. Keith Dearth, president of Northwestern Savings and Loan Assn., remained in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital. Hospital authorities reported his condition had improved slightly.

His wife, Mrs. Esther M. Dearth, said yesterday he was able to have a few, short visits from friends. Dearth underwent surgery 12 days ago.

Power Failure In West Marin

Residents of Inverness, Inverness Park and the Point Reyes Peninsula were without electricity for two and one-half hours early today after a main circuit breaker switched off at about 2:30 a.m.

Pacific Gas and Electric Co. electrical superintendent Leonard O. Robertson said the cause was undetermined, but was assumed to have been a tree limb falling on a power line. Service was restored to some 250 customers when the breaker was switched back on at 5 a.m.

Lack Of Quorum

The meeting of the Corte Madera Park and Recreation Commission scheduled for last night was cancelled because of lack of a quorum.

Crab Season Bill Conflict Forces Delay Of Action

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Senate Fish and Game Committee — caught in the middle of a dispute between fishermen and lawmakers over the length of the crab season — decided yesterday to postpone action on conflicting bills.

Assemblyman Frank P. Belotti, R-Eureka, is author of a bill that would extend the current season of Dec. 15 to July 15 for two more years. His bill already has passed the Assembly.

Sen. Carl L. Christensen, D-Eureka, has a bill that would lengthen the season two weeks, with a Dec. 1 opening. His bill has Senate approval.

Belotti told the committee that the early opening would mean the taking of immature and substandard crabs. His stand was backed by Crescent City crab fisherman Carl Brower.

William Hill, secretary of the Humboldt Fishermens' Marketing Association, said he favored the earlier opening as making north coast fishermen more competitive.

The committee postponed action after requesting that Belotti and Christensen work out a compromise solution.

Many Moonlighters

WASHINGTON (AP) — There are almost as many Americans with two jobs as there are with none, the Labor Department said today in a new study on moonlighting. But if all the moonlighters quit their second job it would not significantly help the nation's approximately four million unemployed, the report said.

Anything this homely has got to be good.

The VW Station Wagon may look silly.
But it's so sensible, it makes all the others look even sillier.
We started by chipping away at every senseless old idea we could find.
Hoods didn't seem to be doing anything useful, for example, so we don't have one.

The engine is tucked in back instead.
We saved an inch here and an inch there and got a machine that holds nearly twice what regular wagons hold: over a ton.
The VW holds 9 people, not 6. When you take out the middle seat, it holds 6 anyway.
Plus a piano.

You like windows? There are 21.
Doors? 2 huge and 3 very huge.
The VW runs for next to nothing, and you just can't find anything frivolous or flimsy or merely for the sake of looks.
Because the rule works both ways:
Anything this good has got to be homely.

Board Hears Work-Study Summer Plan

Plans for a summer work-study program at College of Marin were presented to Marin Junior College District trustees last night.

The proposed program would help students make the transition from high school to college, claimed Irwin P. Diamond, dean of students. He estimated that 50 students could be employed a maximum of 15 hours a week for six weeks and 35 could be employed up to 40 hours a week for 11 weeks, at pay ranging from $1.50 to $2.25 an hour.

The total cost woulld be $31,-410, but under the Economic Opportunity Act, the federal government would pay $28,269 and cost to the college would be only $3,141, he said.

Students would be enrolled in communications, reading, orientation and mathematics courses.

Diamond said 12 students could be employed to provide recreational assistance in Marin City and 10 could serve as teaching assistants in special classes. Faculty members could employ 10 students to assist them in summer sessions.

Students who have not previously attended the college but are enrolled either for the summer or fall would be eligible.

Diamond presented the plan at the close of last night's meeting, and trustees, who had not had a chance to study it, took no action.

Larkspur Planning Session Slated

A joint meeting of the Larkspur Planning Commission and the Larkspur General Plan Citizens' Committee has been called for 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Larkspur City Hall.

Planning consultant John David Erickson will meet with the group to discuss goals of the general plan.

College Seeks Funds For Health Building

Marin Junior College District trustees voted to apply for federal funds for a health services building at the Kentfield campus last night, but want to know more about the proposed building.

Irvin Colt, director of technical education, recommended application for funds for the building, estimated to cost between $450,000 and $500,000.

The building would house facilities for classes in registered nursing, vocational nursing, dental assisting, medical assisting, nursing and psychiatric aid, X-ray technology and perhaps the school nurse offices, Colt said.

The federal government would provide two-thirds of the cost.

Colt noted the board "need not commit itself to funding at this time." Trustees agreed they want further study before committing funds.

Trustee Robert E. Rogers said he wanted an analysis "of the total picture" including the equipment that would be needed for the building.

The board agreed to file the federal funds on condition it receives additional information "on the total plans." It authorized Falk and Booth of San Francisco to prepare preliminary architectural plans.

The trustees agreed also to file for federal funds for a temporary building for a welding shop, and asked a further report on the proposal.

Trustee Elizabeth M. Deedy said the proposal should be "well thought out" before federal funds are accepted.

Colt said the proposed building would cost $72,000, with the federal government providing half under the Vocational Educational Act. The present welding shop "is not only inadequate for its own function, but precludes expansion of the machine shop," he said.

The proposed building also could be used by the maintenance department, Colt said.

The Marin Junior College District Board also:

1. Authorized College President Stephen E. Epler to start recruiting for 17 teachers, two more counselors and a librarian.

2. Postponed until next Thursday discussion of tuition charges for persons over 21 attending regular academic classes because Trustee Kent O. Seymour was absent and other board members felt that all should be present to set the policy.

3. Endorsed a proposed bill that would reduce the state's computational tax figures in the equalization formula and increase state aid to the district by about $85 a pupil, for an estimated total of $170,000 a year.

Driver Arrested After Cars Hit

A two-car crash on Diablo Avenue near Court Road, Novato, at 7:22 p.m. yesterday resulted in back injuries for one driver and arrest of the other.

Larry Richardson Hale, 20, of 1301 Monte Maria Avenue, Novato, told police he would see his doctor about back pains. He was driving north on Diablo Avenue when his car was hit in the side by one driven by Homer Altus Owen, 64, of 1617 Vallejo Avenue, Novato, police said.

Owen, whose car had crossed the double line, according to police, was arrested on a charge of being drunk in an automobile. He was later released from Marin County Jail on $110 bail.

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — Chemicals in the human body are worth about $800 today, according to Charles A. Thomas, former board chairman of the Monsanto Chemical Co.

Youth Is Arrested In Shoplifting Case

Paul Fumio Higaki Jr., 18, of 1506 Vallejo Avenue, Apt. 8, Novato, was arrested at 5:13 p.m. yesterday on a shoplifting charge at Lee Brothers Market, Grant Avenue and Seventh Street, Novato police reported.

Robert E. Martin, of 5 Ormund Court, Novato, a clerk in the store, made a citizen's arrest of Higaki, saying he took $8.16 worth of food items from the store without paying. Higaki was booked into Marin County Jail with bail set at $276.

Dr. Howard A. Levenson is president of the Marin Optometric Society and Dr. Richard Neumaier is president-elect.

Motion To Free Prisoner Due

A motion asking the Federal District Court in San Francisco to set conditions for temporary release of San Quentin Prison inmate Fred Russell Harris, pending an appeal by the state of an order to set him free permanently, will be presented next week.

N. Rommel Bondoc, Harris' attorney, said today he hoped the conditions would be set by next Friday.

The United States Court of Appeals Tuesday upheld an order of Federal District Judge Stanley A. Weigel that Harris, 41, be released on a writ of habeas corpus because he had no attorney when he was convicted of armed robbery 11 years ago.

After arguments are heard on Bondoc's motion to set conditions for temporary release, he will be freed from San Quentin pending hearing of an appeal of the habeas corpus order filed by the state attorney general's office.

Sea Wall Plea Is Tabled By Bolinas Board

Bolinas Harbor District commissioners last night tabled for further investigation a proposal of the Bolinas Rod and Gun Club to extend the sea wall on Wharf Road.

Cost of extending the wall 250 feet filling and installing a parking area was estimated at $102,000. Commissioners were advised the county of Marin could not contribute to the project, said commissioner Clyde W. King, and agreed to request the state small craft harbor commission for assistance.

Commissioners discussed making a channel 100 feet wide along the east shore of the lagoon to a proposed launching ramp at the Bahia Baulines development. They decided engineers of the district and the Bahia Baulines should work out details. Rough estimate is $13,000, King said.

Crosby's Son Faces Divorce Second Time

HOLLYWOOD, (UPI) — Philip Crosby, 30, one of the twin sons of crooner Bing Crosby, faces divorce for the second time, according to his attorney.

Tree Savers Delay Tiburon Road Work

By ELLEN BRY

Work which began yesterday on widening Tiburon Boulevard was stopped temporarily today as dedicated tree savers arose to defend 17 eucalptus in the path of the project.

However at a meeting this morning at the site, next to the "Sway Back Horse Pasture," residents agreed the trees could be cut without further protest—if new ones are planted.

H. K. Taylor, district engineer of the State Division of Highways, told the eight Tiburon residents at the meeting there was a "good chance" the state would finance tree planting.

Gordon Russell, president of Reedlands Property owners Assn., said his group had been assured that only six trees were to be cut to widen the road from Blackfield Drive to just beyond Reed Ranch Road.

But highway workers and tree cutters from Novato Tree Service, subcontractors to road builders Brown-Ely Co. of San Rafael, said it was unlikely the trees could be saved even if "wells" were constructed around them.

Twelve blue gum eucalpytus on the bay side of the road, estimated to be at least 90 years old, and five young blue gums on the other side will come down.

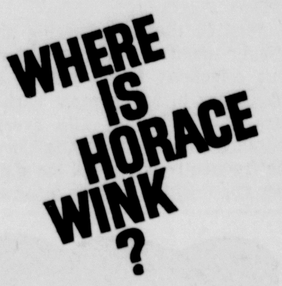
The work was halted yesterday when a stop work order was issued by the City of Tiburon because the construction company did not have a business license. Work did not resume until almost noon today, after the 10 a.m. meeting of residents, Tiburon City Councilmen John S. Hoffmire Jr. and Fred C. Hannahs, City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose, engineers and tree cutters.

The widened road will cut into the pasture of Blackie, the outstandingly sway backed horse, but will leave him room enough to continue residing there.

"We've got to keep him; he's a landmark," said one highway worker.

Bell Will Toll

THOMASTON, Ga. (AP)—Students at the R. E. Lee Institute acquired an old farm bell, mounted it on a portable stand and presented it to the high school. The bell will be tolled for those who excel scholastically and athletically.



Author's Mother Keeps Her Wits

BOSTON (UPI) — During a visit to Boston College, James T. Farrell recalled his early years as a writer.

"Sometimes," he said, "people would tell my mother that they thought my books were a menace to public morals. To them she'd always say, 'Well, don't ask me. I know nothing about it.'

"On the other hand," said Farrell, "if they asked, 'Are you the mother of the famous writer?' she would quickly reply, 'That's my boy!' "

Lightless Drive

BOSTON (UPI) — With the opening of the Boston extension to the Massachusetts Turnpike, it's now possible to drive from downtown Boston to the Mississippi River without encountering a single traffic light. This is more than 1,000 miles.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Sausalito's Spinnaker Restaurant Will Impress Visiting Firemen

One of the really attractive restaurants to impress newcomers and visitors to Marin County is the Spinnaker in Sausalito.

You might say this applies from the inside looking out as well as from the outside looking in, though the water is the best vantage point for looking at the place itself. So if you are not equipped with a boat to do your sightseeing, don't keep your guests standing in the parking lot. Take them inside while they them enjoy the food while they make the most of that perspective.

The Spinnaker has that type of menu which fits most Americans like a comfortable pair of old shoes. It boasts a wide selection of dishes with names anyone can pronounce, is neither low-priced nor especially expensive. This isn't to say that if you let yourself go, you won't end up with a rather sizeable check—but don't blame any restaurant for not curbing your ordering when its business is predicated on your appetite for good food.

The answer is "yes" to that most commonly asked question. The steaks are good. If you feel you can afford it, order the chateaubriand. Cut down on something else. It's that excellent.

The management objects to women wearing slacks, capris and leotards, and men without coats and ties. Don't be an individualist and fight it, but accept it as part of the Spinnaker's right to determine its own policy. I like to go around in my shirt sleeves as much as anyone, and if you catch me at home on a weekend you'll take me for an odd-jobs man earning a handout. But I have never been able to understand the compulsion some people have to force the issue of informality of dress on a restaurant trying to maintain a certain set of standards.

If this seems as though the Spinnaker is a stuffy place, filled with raised eyebrows—it isn't. It has a warm and comfortable atmosphere, which increases with each succeeding visit, as you get to recognize some of the habitues and become acquainted with the staff.

And in this connection there are a few changes if you haven't been here lately: Don Lind is now maitre d' over at Tarantino's in the city, while Charlie Switzer has returned here from Tarantino's in the same post. He was maitre at the Spinnaker when it first opened. Elizabeth Mueller is the new hostess—and oh, yes—Denny Schumacher is back here again as captain of waiters.

THREE SISTERS, the Misses Mary, Elizabeth and Ann McCartan are giving up 16 years of operating the A and C Fountain lunch stand in the San Rafael Greyhound Depot to retire, travel or generally take life easy. Said Miss Mary: "I'm tired and just want to rest; my sisters are talking about traveling."

They came here in 1949 from Scotland via New Zealand, and are selling out to a Welsh couple —Brinley D. and Dilys Lewis, who had a restaurant in London and have been looking for just a spot as this. Transfer is effective April 1.

KIRBY AND RENEE ATTERBURY have returned to Tiburon and their cliffside-waterside dinery Caprice after several weeks in Portugal, Spain and southern France — with special attention given to the vineyards of the Iberian Peninsula — and particularly the Port and Sherry districts.

Needless to say, cases of assorted vintages from the regions are following them home, and in due course you will discover new labels on the capacious racks of the Caprice wine cellar.

Must be that in enlarging his dinner menu to about 12 different selections Kirby judged it necessary to have ample varieties of wine to go with every possible combination. And since he frequently augments the dinner carte with a sudden inspirational recipe, he has to offer it up with a special vintage "to enhance the flavor." Sometimes I think he takes one of these wines, tastes it lovingly and then experiments backward in the food department to find just the right viand to go with the preselected grape—sampling each all the while.

Nice work if you can get it.

AN EXHIBITION of the works of French artist Jean Even will be on the walls of the Musee d'Art International at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant, San Rafael, starting next week and continuing throughout the month of April.

PAINTINGS by Russ Rudzinski on display at Sam's Anchor Cafe in Tiburon will be held over until the middle of April. It's his first public display and interest has justified the extended showing.

Sam's has been featuring champagne with this and that dish for some time now. Latest combination is with eggs—for breakfast, of course. Champagne dry and eggs Benedict. Just the way the hens intended them to be served, says Jim Bigelow.

IRISH LEFTOVERS. United Produce Co. provided a very green imported Mexican watermellon elaborately decorated as a birthday cake by California Bakery last week as a surprise for Mrs. Johnnie Mangini, otherwise known as Pat (they used to own the Cellars). This was at Pier 15 where new owner Fred Rynders was celebrating his first month's operation in typical corned beef and cabbage fashion.

But the cake mysteriously disappeared before the cutting—only to turn up again that night as a table centerpiece at Pandora, where husband Johnnie had arranged a surprise dinner party. Very confusing—but it shows what the Irish will do to get their names in the paper.

AND SPEAKING O' THE GREEN, French-born chef and co-owner Alfred Roblin of Ondine, Sausalito demonstrated an Irish dessert last St. Patrick's Day before a group of 350 in Oakland, where he had been called upon to speak. Even the mayor of Oakland showed up to see this.

WORK ON ADDITIONAL SPACE at Le Chalet Basque in Santa Venetia has already begun—but that need not keep you away from here. At this point there is no interference with the service, and there will be no closing until after Easter, says Raymond Coscarat.

CONNIE AND JOHNNIE WALKER at Farallon East report an unusual amount of business for Stinson Beach this time of year. March as a rule has not been a heavy month.

They have applied for the seasonal on-sale liquor license of Robert Bolger and Robert Keskula for Farallon East, and if this transfer is approved it will enable them to serve "adult beverages" from April through December every year. However, approval of the transfer will likely take until the latter part of next month.

Bolger and Keskula operated Muir Beach Resort.

Hamburger and CHAMPAGNE?

Well, not for *every*body.

You have to be 21 and come over to Sam's in Tiburon to get it.

And, if you find fulfillment in the works of Edgar Guest, Paul Harvey, Daddy Warbucks, Jane Addams, Norman Rockwell, and Henry Doelger... you might prefer to stick with Sam's tried and true Burger & Beer.

But if a spark of the bon vivant burns in your soul, your taste will be abundantly rewarded with this bizarre combination.

Sam's Anchor Cafe has even bottled its own champagne for the occasion.

That would be Sam's in Tiburon.

— Dr. Robert C. Seamans, associate administrator of NASA, and Harris M. Schurmeier of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory, Pasadena, Calif.

Outside, thousands waited along Pennsylvania Avenue to give a hero's welcome to the space twins, en route to the Capitol where members of Congress waited to pay their tribute.

Smiling but speaking gravely, the President told a throng of top-ranking dignitaries and spectators in the East Room — and millions watching on television — that man has left behind his first tentative ventures into space.

"The question whether there is a role for man himself in space is answered, and answered affirmatively," he said. The role, he added, will be great, vital and useful.

Before awarding the medals, the President paid tribute to the legions of scientists, technicians and workers who made possible the space triumph.

"We have come here today to honor just four of the 400,000 men on the NASA team," he said. And he went on to pay tribute to Seamans for his work on the manned space program, and to Schurmeier for his contribution to the Ranger moon project.

Grissom accepted his award in the same spirit. It was a token, he said, of esteem for all members of the civilian space program.

The citations for both astronauts were read by James E. Webb, chief of the space agency. Then Johnson pinned the medals on their jackets.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, chairman of the National Space Council, spoke briefly. He said Johnson was a president who understood the meaning of the American space effort "when it was yet on the drawing boards in terms of legislation." The program, he added, is a great example of cooperation and partnership between government and industry.

In a change of plans, the astronauts were to return to Florida this afternoon instead of staying here for the weekend.

They will fly to New York Monday morning for a noon ticker tape parade, and will take off from Newark, N.J., Tuesday for civic ceremonies in Chicago.

Tam Privileges Plan 'Negative'

Tamalpais High School student congress Wednesday voted in favor of a bill to give seniors special privileges, but the vote was ineffective because of lack of a quorum.

Principal Robert H. Prather said today the faculty has looked at the proposal "negatively."

The principal said he feels privileges should be based on scholarship, not merely on having reached the fourth year of high school.

County Supervisor E. N. Kettenhofen is a member of the board of governors of the California Maritime Academy.

Purchase For Tam Park Urged

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The initial acquisition of 3,211 acres of privately owned land was recommended today for expansion of Mount Tamalpais State Park in Marin County.

The recommendation came from the Division of Beaches and Parks in a report on its study of the park, which was conducted at request of the legislature.

The expansion project would be on the coast, nine miles north of Golden Gate Bridge. Funds would be provided under terms of Proposition 1, the $150 million bond issue approved on the November ballot.

The present park contains 2,432 acres and occupies only a small portion of the Mount Tamalpais coastal slope. The proposed total expansion would increase the park to 10 to 12 times its present size. The total project would be 29,560 acres with ocean frontage of 11 miles.

The Beaches and Parks Division also recommended approval of the whole project and urged that negotiations with Marin Municipal Water District be continued on the remaining parcels of district lands needed to complete objectives.

Herbert E. Davis is president of the Almonte Improvement Club.

Radio Stolen

Theft of a transister radio from the station wagon of John Henry Schroeder, 55 Rutherford Avenue, San Anselmo, and parked yesterday in a Tamalpais High School lot was reported by sheriff's officers. Deputies said a right wing ventilator was pried.

SLIGHT INJURIES IN CRASH LANDING

This plane approaching the Hawthorne Airport near Ingelwood yesterday crashed into two houses injuring the occupants of the plane, but not seriously. Police said the one home was empty and the other was occupied by a woman and her 2-year-old son who escaped serious injury. (UPI Telephoto)

City Manager Baget Faints At Meeting

Novato City Mgr. J. Julien Baget collapsed last night at a chamber of commerce-sponsored dinner for Hamilton Air Force Base non-commissioned officers at Nero's Restaurant.

He was reported "resting satisfactory" in Novato Hospital today.

Others at the banquet said Baget had just started eating when he turned white and fainted. He was taken to the hospital by California Ambulance.

Mrs. Baget blamed overwork for the city manager's collapse.

Radio Stolen From Truck

A $269 citizens band transmitter-receiver and a $12 fire extinguisher were stolen overnight from a locked pickup truck belonging to Jack Tilkus, 40 Ross Valley Road, San Rafael police reported today.

The truck was parked in front of Tilkus' home.

Theft of a licensed radio transmitter is a federal as well as a state offense.

Mrs. Samuel Archibald is president of the Marin Music Chest.

Rapid Transit Plan Is Making Progress

After 14 years of study and planning, a rapid transit system is inching toward reality in the Bay Area. In four years, the nation's first entirely new transit system in half a century will start carrying passengers, United Press International reports.

Officials hope to tempt commuters off the highways in order to keep the Bay Area from strangling on its own automobile traffic.

Miners began this month to dynamite into the Berkeley Hills, blasting twin tunnels through which high-speed trains eventually will carry commuters to and from their homes in eastern Contra Costa County.

By 1971, the full 75-mile-three-county system will be in operation, shuttling commuters among the suburban areas of Alameda and Contra Costa counties and the metropolitan centers of San Francisco and Oakland.

Planning for the system began in 1951. In 1962, the plan was presented to the voters in the form of a $792 million bond issue—and the voters approved.

Since then, the district has acquired $15 million worth of land for stations and right-of-way, and begun the massive job of construction.

The commuter who uses Bay Area transit will ride on a sleek electric train with air conditioning and wide, comfortable seats —enough of them that nobody will have to stand. An automated fare collection system will charge him according to miles traveled and it's likely he will be able to get a credit card for his fares.

The trains will be swift and quiet, running as often as every 90 seconds during peak periods, and averaging 50 miles on hour. They will be powered by electricity, each car being self-propelled and able to function by itself or in trains with other cars.

The system will be wholly automated, with a central computer operating the trains. The trains will have exclusive right of way at all times, with no cross traffic.

Students Form News Bureau At College

Students at the College of Marin have formed a news bureau for distribution of news about student events on the campus.

Warren Glass, inter-club council president, said the news bureau is designed to increase information on campus activities. Articles will be written by students.

Actor Settles In Libel Suit

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Michael Wilding has settled a $3-million libel suit against movie columnist Hedda Hopper. His attorney said yesterday the actor got more than $100,000.

Miss Hopper declined any comment.

Wilding had sued Miss Hopper and her publishing firm, Doubleday and Co., alleging she included false statements about him in her 1963 book, "The Whole Truth and Nothing But the Truth."

Larkspur Teachers Ask Raise

Larkspur School District trustees last night heard a request by teachers for a five per cent across-the-board pay hike, raising the top salary to $10,500 a year and starting pay to $5,656.

Non-teaching employees also filed a report, asking no flat increase but making specific requests in different types of jobs. Total cost of the requested increases for these workers was computed at $3,660.

The board took no action on the requests, pending budget study after the Tamalpais unification vote April 20.

The board hired Mrs. Anne McEachern as an intern teacher from Dominican College, and hired Aldo Culazzo as building inspector for classroom construction at San Clemente and Henry C. Hall schools.

Chess President Earns His Post

The office of president is more than a title in the Redwood High School Chess Club. It has to be earned.

In fact, it took more than 30 moves and an hour's play for sophomore John Dinsmore of Corte Madera to become the club's first president recently.

Dinsmore defeated sophomore Jonathan Rayden of Greenbrae in a chess game for the presidency. Drayden automatically became vice president and treasurer. Junior Vincent Amero, meanwhile, was elected secretary.

The club plans a tournament at the school. The 11 members meet on Tuesdays to discuss the fine points of the game, then engage in actual play on Thursdays. Mathematics teacher Robert Bachelder is sponsor.

Fairfax Planners Adding Zoning Law To Agenda

Additional meetings devoted entirely to discussion of amendments to the zoning ordinance will be added to the Fairfax Planning Commission's regular monthly meeting schedule.

Commissioners decided on this procedure last night.

"All of these matters need a lot of study and we can't do them justice and attend to the increased amount of regular business which comes before us," chairman Dan M. Miller said today.

The commission also agreed that park and recreation plans for each of Marin's cities should be included in the second phase of a county-wide parks and recreation master plan. It recommended that a similar stand be taken by the city council.

The commissioners agreed to a joint meeting with the city council early next month to hear Pacific Gas and Electric Co. representatives present a new master plan for street lighting.

Prison Drama Adviser Honored

San Quentin Prison officials this week honored Alan Mandell, former general manager of the San Francisco Actor's Workshop, for his work as an adviser to the prison's inmate drama group.

Mandell will leave in 10 days to become business manager of New York's Lincoln Center Repertory Theater. He will be joined by 18 other top personnel of the San Francisco workshop.

San Quentin Warden Lawrence E. Wilson presented a certificate of appreciation to Mandell Wednesday.

FOR HARD WORK

Foundation Set To Aid Students

By ROBERT M. COPPOCK

A student at College of Marin who hopes to transfer to a four-year college at the end of two years must average 15 units of work a semester, or about 15 hours of class a week. He is also expected to study outside class about two hours for every hour in class.

That's a 45-hour week. Yet half the students at the college hold part-time jobs, and 36 per cent work more than 10 hours a week.

The junior college is the cheapest way to get through the first two years of a college education in Marin, since attendance is free and the student usually lives at home. But there are expenses.

The College of Marin Foundation has launched a fund-raising drive, hoping to gain $19,000 by June. The money will be used for loans and scholarships, including scholarships for students transferring to four-year institutions.

The foundation was formed a year ago to take over the job. Previously, it was done informally by the college president and trustees.

The foundation's first organized campaign will use a "soft sell" approach, according to its president, Theodore C. Wellman.

It will be in two parts. First, personal appeals will be made for large contributions to selected persons in the community. Second, a mail appeal will go to a cross-section of 5,000 former students, parents of students and residents who have taken adult courses at the college.

The campaign will start officially April 10, although the foundation has already collected about $7,500.

Why must students work? Some are saving for more expensive college work later. Wellman cited several cases where loans or scholarship grants could help.

He mentioned "Mr. P," a top science student from Novato whose father is a teacher and who is one of four children. The youth must put himself through college and has already saved some money.

He must carry a heavy course load or spend a full extra year in college. College counsellors estimate his expenses at $35 a month for books, transportation and other expenses. Transportation is a special problem in Marin because of the lack of a public transit system.

Another student mentioned was a top basketball player who has performed in class much better than pre-enrollment tests indicated he would. He had to leave school, however, to take a job as a grocery clerk. About $250 a semester for two semesters would make him ready to transfer to a four-year college.

"Miss H" has a mother who is ill and must, therefore, help take care of her family. She wants to become a teacher or recreation worker, and has good enough grades. Forty dollars a month would allow her to stay in school.

Of the $19,000 goal, about $14,000 would go for scholarships, including 25 grants of $400 for students entering four-year schools from the College of Marin. Another $1,000 would be for short-term emergency loans, limited to $50 and to be repaid at the end of the semester.

Some $1,000 would be used as a matching fund to make the district eligible for $9,000 of federal money for loans under the National Defense Education Act. Only students who intend to go to four-year college can receive such loans.

Another $3,000 would be used for long-term loans for some students who are taking two-year programs and are thus not eligible for the federal loan funds.

Enlists In Navy

Robert A. Dovico, 20, son of Mrs. Ora M. Dovico of 695 Hawthorne Drive, Tiburon, has enlisted in the Navy at the San Rafael recruiting station, 1116 Fourth Street. Dovico, a construction apprentice in the Navy Reserves, enlisted for a four-year tour of duty.

Dark Glasses, Cowboy Boots And Thievery

Shoplifts from two stores were reported today by San Rafael police.

At 2:30 p.m. yesterday, a tall man wearing dark glasses and cowboy boots stuffed a $4.95 cowboy shirt into a paper bag and ran out of the Taveggia-Brusati Sport and Saddle Shop at 1340 Fourth Street.

Romolo Brusati gave chase, but the shoplifter got away at Fifth Avenue and D Street.

Owner Lucille Meltzer Tryford reported that a young man apparently filched a $15.50 brass and iron fondue pot and a $7.50 white ceramic bird figurine while browsing in her store, Villa Iris Imports, 1444 Fourth Street, about 5:15 p.m. yesterday.

Howard G. Bunce is president and founder of the Marin Branch of the American Youth Hostels, Inc.

Retirement Dinner

More than 100 friends and fellow workers of Mrs. Marian McQuade, secretary in the San Quentin Prison warden's office who is retiring April 1, will attend a dinner in her honor at 7:30 p.m. today at the San Rafael Elks Club.

Churchill Stamp

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Winston Churchill commemorative five-cent stamp will be sold first at Fulton, Mo., on May 13. It was at Westminster College in Fulton that the British statesman made his famous "iron curtain" speech on March 5, 1946.

Rescue Squadron Back At Hamilton

All 18 men from the 41st Air Rescue Squadron who were sent on the Gemini standby operation returned yesterday to Hamilton Air Force Base.

None of the men participated in recovery of the capsule or of astronauts Virgil I. Grissom and John W. Young, according to base officials.

Tire, Wheel Stolen

Someone took the spare tire and wheel from his car while it was parked in his garage at 37 Terry Circle, Novato, between 8:30 p.m. Wednesday and 10:30 a.m. yesterday, Alfred F. Cluff reported to Novato police.

LEGISLATURE HITS HALFWAY POINT

Most Of Session's Work Is Still Ahead; Senate, Assembly In Insurance Dispute

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The legislature — most of its work still ahead — hit the halfway point of the 1965 session today locked in a Senate - Assembly fight over insurance payments to disabled workers.

The Brown administration prepared to issue an emergency proclamation cutting some benefits if lawmakers miss the April 1 deadline for solving the financial problems of the disability insurance fund.

Watching the outcome are some 6.5 million California workers who are eligible for DI benefits if they are hit by off-the-job illness or injury. They finance the insurance plan, themselves, with payroll deductions.

Meanwhile, the calendar showed the legislature was in the 60th day of a 120 day session. Both the Senate and Assembly chambers were empty, with the lawmakers away on another three-day weekend.

There's been final action on only one major bill, a measure to exempt used car owners from the smog control law this year.

The tangled fight over the DI program offers a confused cast of characters — Senate Democrats on the same side as Assembly Republicans, fighting a bill backed by Democratic Gov. Brown.

And offering the governor support Thursday was his sometime foe, Democratic Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh of Los Angeles.

Unruh told newsmen "my present disposition would be to oppose" the Senate Finance Committee's version of the bill to rescue the insolvent DI fund.

His opposition means the Assembly is likely to refuse to accept the Senate bill, resulting in the session's first two - house conference committee.

If there is no agreement by April 1, Employment Director Albert Tieburg said the governor will issue an emergency proclamation to eliminate the current $12 daily hospital benefit for those submitting claims starting April 1.

The Senate committee approved a bill that would pump more money into the fund by raising earnings subject to the payroll tax from $5,600 to $6,900. But benefits would drop for about 225,000 low income workers—many of them seasonal employes such as farm and cannery workers.

Brown and the Assembly Democratic leadership oppose any benefit cut, but advocate increasing the tax temporarily and fixing the taxable wage base permanently at $7,500.

CRA Session Faces Snub By Delegates

SAN DIEGO (AP)—The California Republican Assembly, the state's largest and oldest GOP volunteer political organization, opened its annual convention today amid rumors of a walkout by some delegates.

Sources said the newly organized California Republican League also may conduct a meeting in San Diego this weekend, only a few blocks from the CRA convention site. This would give disgruntled CRA members an opportunity to walk out and join the new Republican club.

Founders of the Republican League said the organization was to be a home for middle-of-the-road party members. The CRA is considered a conservative Republican group.

Car Somersaults, Injuring Driver

Frank J. Cotton, 23, of 24 Evergreen Drive, Kentfield, was injured early today when his car went off the Highway 101 on-ramp at the San Quentin Wye and somersaulted.

Cotton was driving from Route 17 at 2:35 a.m. when his car failed to negotiate a curve, hit the curb. He was treated for a shoulder injury of unspecified nature at Marin General Hospital.

4:54 p.m., Novato — Partly filled 50 gallon gasoline drum exploded behind home of Paul Phillips, 1684 Hill Road, starting fire which did $200 damage to garage; cause undetermined.

TODAY:

Open Meeting Bill Gains In Assembly

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The television camera and the radio microphone would be admitted to state and local government meetings under legislation that has reached the Assembly floor.

The bill, by Assemblyman Tom Carrell, (D-San Fernando), was approved yesterday by the Assembly Government Organization Committee over objections by the League of California Cities.

Television and radio equipment would be permitted at meetings and hearings of all state, county and municipal legislative and administrative agencies covered by the state's "open meeting" law.

"The people who elect us and pay the taxes have every right to hear open and free discussions and I don't think anything has contributed more to free and open discussion than television," said Assemblyman Robert Moretti, D-North Hollywood.

Richard Carpenter, executive director of the league, strongly objected.

He declared that is wasn't a case of whether the public has a right to know, but whether such legislative bodies "should have the right to determine when and how these radio and television broadcasters can enter."

Carrell said that because some meetings are now barred to radio and TV newsmen, the public's right to be informed on matters of public interest was being denied.

Carpenter objected that radio-TV newsmen presented only shortened versions of news events, whereas newspaper reporters present the fuller story.

Gas Explosion Burns Building

A 50-gallon drum of gasoline exploded beside the garage of the Paul Phillips residence at 1684 Hill Road, Novato, at 4:45 p.m. yesterday, setting fire to the building.

No one was at home, but Mrs. Donald E. Morrison of 1677 Hill Road heard the explosion and called the Novato Fire Department. The blaze was extinguished with about $200 damage.

Fire Chief George J. Cavallero hazarded that an exposed electrical wire may have short-circuited against the metal drum, causing the explosion.

Johnson Aide Expresses Sympathy To Slain Rights Worker's Family

DETROIT (UPI) — President Johnson and his wife today extended their sympathy to the husband and children of a civil rights worker slain in Alabama and promised to do everything possible to find the killers.

Johnson's sentiments were expressed by Lee White, a special White House counsel, in a call to the home of Anthony J. Liuzzo about 9 a.m. EST today. The call came to Liuzzo 10 hours after his wife, Viola, 39, was shot to death by a sniper on an Alabama highway between Montgomery and Selma.

The call from the White House came 3½ hours after Liuzzo, his voice choked with emotion, tried to call President Johnson to find out the details of his wife's slaying.

He was told by the White House telephone operator that the President was asleep, but that Johnson would return the call at the earliest possible time.

White told Liuzzo that the President is fully aware of the slaying and has been in touch with the FBI and the Justice Department.

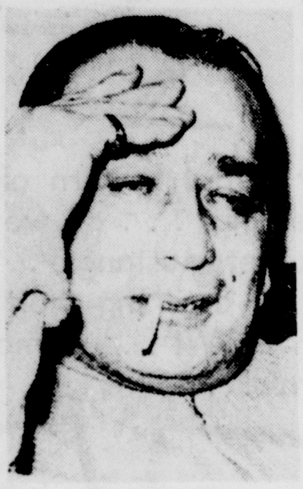
"The President and Mrs. Johnson extend their sympathies," White said. "They told me to ask you if there is anything at all they can do?"

Liuzzo thanked White for calling.

"All I want to know is where do we go from here?" he asked. "Where does this stop? Are we going to continue fighting this thing and let them go on killing people who are innocent? Are we going to let (Gov. George) Wallace run Alabama and the United States? I don't think we are going to do that."

In response to the question, White told Liuzzo that "the way Congress and the public have responded to the President's call for legislation makes us believe we are making great strides, but the price we have to pay is heartbreaking."

Liuzzo seemed satisfied after the call, although he obviously was disappointed he did not get a chance to speak directly to the President.



ANTHONY LIUZZO
On verge of tears

Earlier, when Liuzzo called the White House he asked to speak to President Johnson because "my children are crying and my wife is lying on a slab in Montgomery."

"I can't get any information at all (from Alabama)," he said in a voice that broke several times with emotion.

Liuzzo learned of his wife's death shortly after midnight.

He spoke in horror of the shooting and sat in stunned disbelief in his home, surrounded by his children and friends and relatives who had come to offer sympathy.

Earlier, Liuzzo was asked by his little 6-year-old daughter, Sally, "Why couldn't Mommy have died just from being old?"

"She died doing what she believed in," Liuzzo said.

A strong, strapping man, Liuzzo fought back tears as he talked about his wife.

"She was a person who fought for everyone's rights; she was a champion of the underdog."

Liuzzo, a business agent for Teamsters Local 247 in Detroit, recalled bitterly that "I tried to discourage her, but she said, 'No, we've got to go'."

Friends and relatives tried to console him and the children, Sally, Anthony Jr., 10; Thomas, 13; and Penny, 18. Another daughter, Mrs. Mary Johnson, 17, lives in Ringgold, Ga.

WHERE IS HORACE WINK?

Wallace Says He Feels Bad About Killing

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Gov. George C. Wallace said today "I feel badly about anyone getting killed in this state" when he was asked about the shooting of a woman civil rights worker last night in Lowndes County, Ala.

He was referring to the shooting of Viola Gregg Liuzzo, 39, of Detroit, mother of five.

Wallace, interviewed in Montgomery on a national television network program, NBC's "Today" said:

"I regret this incident but its still safer to ride the highways in this state than the subways in New York."

The governor also said "You can't blame any one individual" in Alabama for the incident any more than blame could be placed on one person for an attempted rape in Philadelphia or the slaying of Negro leader Malcolm X in New York.

"I think the people of our state, both Negro and white, were greatly restrained and I commend both races," Wallace said.

Wallace said: "I want to warn the American people that you're going to have these demonstrations in every state in the Union and these demonstrations will immobilize and paralyze this country."

The governor claimed that U.S. Dist. Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr., was used by the Justice Department in ordering the right to vote march on Montgomery.

He said the demonstrations are not about the right to vote.

He said if every Negro in the state were registered, "you would still have these demonstrations."

Wallace repeated an earlier claim that many of the persons who came to Alabama and led the demonstrations belonged to Communist front organizations.

Dr. George Desalernos is president of the Louise A. Boyd Natural Science Museum, Marin County's only natural science museum.

Fair Employment Ordered In U.S. Southern Agencies

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, confronted by a top official's report that federal offices in the South hire too few Negroes, has ordered a halt to any job discrimination in government agencies.

Johnson got the report yesterday at a Cabinet meeting from LeRoy Collins, former Democratic governor of Florida who now heads the Community Relations Service set up under the 1964 civil rights law.

Collins told Johnson that during a recent trouble-shooting mission to Selma, Ala., he saw indications that "the principles of fair employment and nondiscrimination to which the federal government is strongly committed do not appear to be applied in the various federal agencies there."

Collins later told a news conference he was talking about the Social Security office, the post office, the agricultural services, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Justice Department and Selma's Craig Air Force Base.

Johnson responded by saying that in all government offices "there must be equal treatment, equal respect, equal service — and equal support — for all American citizens regardless of race or sex or region or religion."

This was one of several Johnson statements distributed at the hour-long news conference which saw seven officials, including Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, report on the Cabinet meeting.

Some highlights:

Humphrey said he has set up a task force, headed by Collins, to make plans now to avoid summer race riots of the sort that broke out in a number of Northern cities in 1964.

Gardner Ackley, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, estimated that racial discrimination is costing the economy $23 billion a year.

Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor predicted a sharp reduction this year in the country's balance-of-payments deficit.

The news conference, the first of its kind but perhaps the forerunner of others like it, was held without advance notice. Only 15 or 20 reporters were on hand.

Special Elections In South Being Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Special elections to go with any new voting-rights law are a growing demand of Negro civil rights groups.

They are asking Congress to include in the administration voting bill a provision for elections within six to nine months after enactment, so Negroes will have a chance to exercise their new power at the polls.

Rep. Adam C. Powell, D-N.Y., was the first to make such a request at hearings before a House Judiciary subcommittee earlier in the week and last night two more witnesses urged a similar amendment.

One of them, Ralph Featherstone, representing the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, said a requirement for special elections within six to nine months after enactment of any voting law is necessary to prevent terror and intimidation.

"This bill, in effect, leaves violence and intimidation as the only out for those who would prevent Negro voting," said Featherstone.

In much of the South, he said, state and local elections will not be held until two to four years after the passage of any voting bill.

Another witness, Victoria J. Gray, representing the Mississippi Freedom Democratic party, said lack of special elections will work a particular hardship on Negroes in Mississippi, where municipal elections will be held in May and June.

More Money Is Asked For Poor Regions

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has asked for half a billion dollars a year in grants and loans to help build up the economies of lagging regions in the United States where about 27 million people live.

Two years ago the House gave President John F. Kennedy one of his worst legislative setbacks by defeating, by five votes, a similar authorization for the present area redevelopment program. It has been largely stalled since then.

Johnson, in a special message yesterday, tried to mollify congressional critics. The existing agency, which came under heavy fire from some legislators two years ago, would be abolished and the new program directed by an economic development administrator within the Commerce Department.

"No federal plan or federal project will be imposed on any regional, state or local body," Johnson wrote. "No area will be declared distressed by federal decree. No programs or projects will be originated at the federal level. The initiative must all come to Washington, not from Washington."

Almcrants Takes Post In Oregon

A. E. ALMCRANTS
To be county executive

A. E. Almcrants, former city manager of Mill Valley, will start work next Thursday as county executive of Hood County, Ore.

Almcrants left the post of Mill Valley city manager Dec. 31, 1963, after serving the city for 15 years as engineer and later manager. He resigned in October, 1963, under fire from the city council, withdrew his resignation, then submitted it again. He was succeeded as city manager by Bert Balmer.

CHARTER VOTED

Since early 1964, he has been associated with Marvelous Marin Realty and Land and Sea, Inc., in San Rafael.

Almcrants, who lives at 242 Eldridge Avenue, Mill Valley, said that in January the people voted in a charter form of government for Hood County. He will work under a board of commissioners at the county courthouse in Hood River, a city of about 5,500.

He declined to comment on his salary, saying one cannot compare salaries and living costs in two such different areas. Hood county is noted for its orchards, apples, cherries and strawberries.

Almcrants was one of 238 applicants for the job and was screened by the Oregon State Civil Service Commission, he said.

MARINA PLAN

He said plans are under discussion for a marina development at Cascade Locks in Hood County.

Almcrants, a fisherman, said the county is at junction of Hood and Columbia rivers. Mount Hood looms up in the distance.

Mrs. Almcrants, who works as accountant for Marin County Housing Authority and Redevelopment Agency, will remain in Mill Valley for awhile. The Almcrants' daughter, Linda, is married and resides in Tamalpais Valley.

County Roads Cost Pegged At $800,000

Marin County road projects in the next fiscal year will total about $800,000 in right of way purchases and construction, County Administrator Alan Bruce said today.

He said the road projects generally follow a five-year improvement plan for county roads presented to supervisors in December.

The budget for next fiscal year, being discussed this week and next in two meetings of Bruce with department heads, is a long way from final form.

Bruce said, however, that he will recommend improvement of San Pedro Road between Embarcadero Way and Marina Court, of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard from Wolfe Grade to Rosebank Avenue, of Lucas Valley Road from Mount Shasta to Mount McKinley Drives, of Tennessee Valley Road from Shoreline Highway to Belle Lane, and of Point Reyes Station-Petaluma Road from Nicasio Road to Novato Boulevard.

After discussions with Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos, Bruce said he would recommend the addition of two clerks, a bailiff and another deputy in the sheriff's department.

The additional deputy would speed up handling of warrants, making someone available for that job both day and night. The extra bailiff is needed because of recent addition of a fourth superior court.

Bruce was in budget discussions today on the county fire department, recorder, planning department, weights and measures, justice court and health department.

Three Drunken Drivers Fined

Louis Napoleon Pachette, 71, of Vallejo, was fined $166 yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving. He was arrested on Highway 101 last Tuesday by San Rafael police.

Elden Alfred Schue, 63, San Francisco, was fined $276 for drunken driving, also on Highway 101, last Dec. 25. He was arrested by California Highway Patrol.

McCarthy Elected Group Vice Chairman

State Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, was elected vice chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on Tidelands Wednesday at a meeting of the committee in Sacramento.

The committee, which will study such issues as bay fill, preservation of tidelands and marine life, is headed by Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh.

Jack Hogan is president of the Southern Marin Horsemen's Assn. and Susan Trulove is president of the junior members.

Traffic Jams On 101 Stress Second Crossing Urgency

A few pieces of broken glass on Highway 101 near Richardson Bay Bridge this week caused a two-hour traffic tie-up.

It took highway crews only a few minutes to close one lane at a time to sweep up the glass fragments. But that brief delay was enough to pile up cars bumper to bumper from Alto to San Rafael.

There are those who still indulge in wishful thinking — that the second crossing can wait a while; that the Golden Gate Bridge can always handle a few more cars.

For them, the two-hour jam caused by glass fragments provides a graphic answer.

As Capt. Theodore Parnow of the California Highway Patrol has pointed out, "We are already past capacity on 101 on Monday mornings during the peak hours . . . The way it is now, a five-minute slowdown because of a flat tire can cause a backlog which lasts an hour. This critically points to the need for a new bridge."

The captain's point is well taken. A new bridge, even if it were started right away, would take 10 years or more to build. You can imagine what the pileup will be by the time the crossing is ready.

Such a second crossing should provide for some type of rapid transit facility to help take the ever-increasing commute traffic out of individual cars and onto mass transportation vehicles.

Golden Gate Bridge directors have pointed out repeatedly that the 25 million capacity of the span will be reached this year. The directors look with favor on the use of bridge funds to study another crossing.

San Francisco State Sen. J. Eugene McAteer's bill (SB 117) would make it legal for the bridge district to spend surplus funds to study another bay crossing.

The Redwood Empire Assn., Marin County Board of Supervisors, and other organizations in the county have indicated support for a second crossing study.

Even the few die-hards, who would deliberately choke growth in the Bay Area to preserve the status quo, would see the need for another crossing if they were tied up for a couple of hours because of a few broken glass fragments or a flat tire ahead on the one access between Marin and San Francisco.

Footsteps On The Roof

If we believed in ghosts or supernatural phenomena, we would surely be disturbed by the footsteps on our roof which we have heard irregularly at night over the past four or five years above our bedroom.

It seems to be a rather large animal, judging from the thumping noise it makes. Its gait resembles that of a squirrel, but squirrels aren't nocturnal.

We wondered if it could be a big owl jumping around. We do hear owls in the cypress tree outside the window, hooting on a summer's night. But it seems incredibly heavy for an owl.

Sometimes, about midnight, when we are playing the radio softly, we can hear Old Mr. Whatsit up there, presumably listening too. We sure do wonder about him.

MARIN POLITICAL VIEWS

County Fares Poorly In Races For Democratic Council Offices

By WAT TAKESHITA

Marin didn't fare too well in the California Democratic Council elections held last Sunday in Sacramento.

Jerry Hill, attorney from San Francisco and formerly Marin, was beaten out by Simon Cassidy, 51, a newspaper publisher from El Cajon, as president of CDC.

TAKESHITA

Hans Schiller, Mill Valley architect, lost a close one (by only 8 votes) to Sacramento attorney John Fourt, a deputy attorney general, in a race for one of the vice presidencies.

SCHILLER MIGHT well have been a victim of circumstances. Several of the delegates from Schiller's First Congressional District arrived a little too late to get in on the voting, whereas supporters of Fourt, who is from Sacramento, were there in force. That could have made the difference.

Robert Politzer of Sausalito is about the only Marinite who got himself a CDC post. Politzer was unopposed in his bid for the post of director of the First Congressional District, the job formerly held by Schiller.

Casady and Fourt were both strongly backed by the Brown administration.

LOOKS AS IF the "Ronald Reagan for Governor" drive among Republican conservatives has reached the point where Reagan is tempted to toss in his hat.

George Murphy did it last year, and so there's no reason why Reagan can't do it next year. There's no doubt that Reagan's poise on stage and his speaking ability are big assets.

But the very fact that Murphy won last year may be a drawback for actor Reagan.

You can't pin it down, but there seems to be this feeling among voters in general:

Electing one man from Hollywood was refreshing and sort of fun, but let's not over-do it.

Through no fault of his own, Reagan may thus be saddled with a handicap.

ALONG WITH speculation on Sen. Thomas Kuchel's entry into the governor's race are rumors on who might be his running mate, if Kuchel does decide to make the try.

Among the many names being bandied about are Robert Monagan of Tracy, Assembly minority leader, and our own legislators—Sen. Jack McCarthy and Assemblyman Bill Bagley.

Marin expected to have about a dozen representatives attending the California Republican Assembly convention in San Diego this weekend.

THE CYNIC'S CORNER By Interlandi

"And when they get the vote, the first thing they should do is vote Governor Wallace out of office!"

20 YEARS AGO

As recommended by the grand jury, Marin County supervisors voted emergency wartime salary increases to county elective officials: a raise of $1,000 to an annual salary of $9,000 for superior court judges; a $1,500 raise to $6,500 for the district attorney, and so on.

Mrs. Thomas Drew of Inverness was elected chairman of the Marin County Victory Garden Committee.

San Rafael jeweler Owen Brown held that "parallel parking would streamline Fourth Street, giving a more streamlined appearance and cut down on accidents. I am also in favor of parking meters."

Parent Unhappy About School

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The harassment rendered my wife and myself by employees of the Dixie School District will not easily be forgotten. . . .

Believe me, the Dixie School District should know how their schools are managed. The following is a brief summary of incidents which occurred; surely some of these were his fault in part, but because, at several times, he was disciplined for things which occurred after school hours is not up to the school district. He was sent home on more than one occasion and told not to return to school till the following week. I was compelled to take a day off of work to have a talk with the employees of Don Timateo School. They made an appointment with a social worker so that, as they stated, we would know how to cope with a new school.

Is this the school's job or is this discrimination because my wife did not join the P-TA?

Unification On Small Scale

Editor, Independent-Journal:

. . . Unification that is too large may produce unwanted results. . . .

Bigness allows Parkinson's Laws to go berserk, creating empires; it increases impersonal attitudes, destroying quality; chokes initiative by decree and edict; deludes by exchanging quality for quantity; and has diminishing returns the larger it becomes.

. . . It is better to start small and work to bigness, if that is indicated, rather than start at a bigness that cannot be undone. . . .

An attitude of watchful waiting for the time being may prevent snares and pitfalls when our turn comes. . . .

I believe smaller unification is the answer. Without being irrevocably committed, we have the opportunity to determine the proper answer by observation of other courses. It behooves us to take that opportunity. We delude ourselves by concluding that throwing all of the eggs into one basket will solve the hatching problems.

Goheen Nominated For Giant 'Bouquet'

Editor, Independent-Journal:

May I offer George C. Goheen of the Goheen Construction Co. as a candidate for a "Bouquet"? . . .

Mr. Goheen recently underwrote nearly $2,000 that allowed Marin's own Symphony to present the San Francisco premiere of a major musical work in San Francisco. The work is the "War Requiem," which received its Northern California premiere in Marin in December, when the Symphony Guild of Marin and the Winifred Baker Chorale joined together to perform it.

This premiere drew over 1,500 persons in the audience and received widespread attention in San Francisco and Oakland papers. To be presented on March 28 at 8 p.m. in Grace Cathedral, the "War Requiem" performance there . . . to be chauvinistic . . . definitely steals a march on San Francisco. Nearly 200 Marin County residents will be performing and this has all been made possible through the civic responsibility and generosity of Mr. Goheen. Come to think of it, I think he deserves a king-size "Bouquet."

Small Districts, Large Compared

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In Mrs. Nightingale's second letter regarding unification she agrees with Marcia Hagen that the voters need facts before they can intelligently vote on this important matter. I would like to reiterate the plea for a series of articles giving factual and/or statistical information about unification. Such a series would benefit both your readers in the Dixie-San Rafael area and those residents of the Tamalpais area who will vote on April 20.

Mrs. Nightingale reached an erroneous conclusion in her letter. She states, "Even now, in our smaller grammar school districts, some children get overlooked and their potential is lost forever. In a larger district, this kind of problem is apt to be compounded." The first part of her statement is probably true, but the latter does not logically follow. In a district with a small pupil population there are too few students with a specific interest or aptitude to warrant special handling. For example, a small district might have only ten gifted students and/or perhaps ten that are mentally retarded. It is not economically feasible to hire a teacher for either one of these small groups. However, if the pupil population is increased, the number of students with a special interest or aptitude is also increased. It then becomes possible to hire a teacher to accommodate the particular group. Thus the potential of these children would not be "lost forever," but rather, they would be given every opportunity to develop to their maximum capacity.

Candidate Expands Unification Views

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Mr. Takeshita's report of our Dixie-San Jose School candidates' meeting in your March 16 issue was quite accurate except for one point. In briefing my comments on unification, there is an erroneous connotation caused by omitting a vital part of my statement.

Briefly, my view on unification is that I am opposed to it at this time because of the threat to the educational system of the Dixie District; however, I believe the Dixie Board should work to resolve those things that pose that threat and prepare for unification. These items are the lack of rapport between the Dixie and San Rafael Districts and the absence of planning for transition to unified operation. I believe the pressures from the State level and the nature of the laws concerning unification may well cause us to unify in the future, but we should delay until preparations have been made for a smooth transition which will permit our continuing our building and teaching programs. There is no pressing need to unify now, but this status may be changed.

A COMMUTER'S wife called the lost and found department of the New York Central Railroad to report that her husband's dentures had disappeared, that she had been unable to find them in the house when his anguished call came from the office, and that he must have lost them, therefore, on the Manhattan-bound 8:18. "You won't have any trouble recognizing them," she assured the Lost and Found clerk bitterly. "He was so delighted to leave the kids and me when he left the house this morning that the plate will still be grinning like an ape."

ADLAI STEVENSON got a big laugh from a banquet audience when he introduced a good old friend in this wise: "Ladies and gentlemen, I am not here to bore you with a long, dull speech, but I will now introduce you to a man who will."

Congress Weakly Prepares Look At Self In Reorganization Probe

WASHINGTON — Congress has just named 12 of its own members to see what's wrong with the way Congress works or doesn't work.

They are supposed to find out what should be done to repair its creaking machinery to transact the public business more efficiently and more responsibly.

THIS IS A good step, needed, urgent, welcome—and full of self-made roadblocks.

It is just too bad that this congressional reorganization study is setting sail with so little sail.

Congress has given its reorganization committee the second-best method of investigation — self-investigation. No outsiders permitted on the committee; no public members appointed. Congress knows that is second best because, when it set out to reorganize the executive branch of the government, it authorized distinguished non-government experts to serve. But only congressmen will investigate Congress. Purpose: To make sure that the investigation doesn't investigate too well, that the proposed reforms do not reform too much.

Regrettably, the reorganization committee, headed by Sen. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., and Rep. Ray Madden, D-Ind., has a limited mandate. It can propose many things, but some are taboo. One of the most important is ruled out entirely—congressional rules and procedures. Mustn't touch! This is like telling your garage mechanic to overhaul your car but not to look under the hood.

Representative Madden, co-chairman of the investigation, solemnly told Congress the other day that "no rules of the House can be changed unless public opinion and members of the House want them changed." Please, Mr. Madden, don't make this sound quite so virtuous. What these bland words mean is:

THAT CONGRESS passed the reorganization study only because it was assured that nothing would be offered to change "rules and procedures."

That Congress, by keeping rules and procedures off the agenda of committee proposals, did its cute best to make sure that public support would not be enlisted for any changes. That's a pretty neat trick. Mr. Madden says that only "public opinion and members" can change the rules and the members then arrange that the investigation will do nothing to inform or enlist public opinion in favor of changing the rules.

THERE ARE further reasons for being concerned that congressional reorganization is getting under way in pretty adverse circumstances. There are some experienced foot-draggers who have been appointed to the committee—not necessarily a majority, but enough to make experienced foot - dragging a handicap. Some of the congressmen most expert on congressional reform were passed over.

At this stage, the choice of professional staff — where 70 per cent of the best work has to be done—looks more like patronage than first-class competence.

The private scholars don't seem to be doing any better. The Carnegie Foundation gave a grant of nearly $250,000 two years ago to the American Political Science Assn. to come up with needed research, good ideas and proposals. The word is that nothing will be ready until next fall. And then, very little.

THE CONGRESSIONAL committee is supposed to report in 120 days. This is a tremendous challenge to Senator Monroney, Representative Madden and their colleagues. They will have to do a lot of weight-lifting to get it off the ground.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Lawmakers Demand De Gaulle Crackdown

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Strong bipartisan sentiment is rapidly crystalizing in Congress for direct and forceful retaliation against President Charles de Gaulle's increasingly anti-U.S. provocations—the latest, granting millions in trade credits to North Viet Nam.

Influential members of both the Senate and House are bluntly declaring the time has come for the Johnson administration to stop beating around the bush and vigorously crack down on the ultra-nationalist French ruler.

SIGNIFICANTLY, this intensifying drive is spearheaded by members of the president's own party, including Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois, Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri, Rep. Henry Reuss of Wisconsin, and Rep. Paul Rogers of Florida.

Foremost among the tough counter measures they are calling for are:

1. Demand immediate resumption of payments on the $6.34 billion France still owes the U. S. in World War I debts. It was never cancelled; with Congress' approval, President Herbert Hoover suspended payments in 1931, at the height of the desperate European financial crisis.

2. Withdraw between 40,000 and 50,000 U. S. servicemen, and their families, stationed at NATO and other bases in France—at a cost of some $250 million a year. It is these dollars that de Gaulle is using for his heavy raids on this country's steadily diminishing gold reserves.

3. Halt the payment of millions in rent to French landlords for airbases, depots, NATO and other headquarters and military installations.

4. Launch determined campaigns to "discourage" (1) American tourists from going to France, (2) imports of French luxury goods of all kinds.

5. Resort to other financial and economic retributory measures. For this purpose, Senator Douglas is having a study made by the staff of the Joint Economic Committee to ascertain exactly what can be done.

6. Force a showdown in the United Nations on France's defiant refusal to pay long overdue assessments, as has been done with Russia.

"WE SHOULD do this not because we are anti-France," declares Senator Douglas, "but because it is in our own self-defense. We want to preserve our traditional friendship with France. But at the same time, with General de Gaulle seemingly bent on advancing French interests regardless of adverse effects on us, it is only common sense for us to take counter measures. We are not without strong weapons for our own self-defense."

Senator Symington and Representative Reuss lay particular stress on the prompt need for drastically slashing the hundreds of millions of dollars the U. S. is spending in France for military purposes.

Both legislators are citing the ironic fact that, while the U. S. is making these heavy expenditures for the defense of France, de Gaulle is steadily pulling out of NATO and using these dollars to raid this country's increasingly declining gold reserves.

Senator Symington charges flatly that both militarily and economically de Gaulle "seems to be making a fetish of being anti-American."

IN DE GAULLE'S effort to create a "Europe dominated by France," Symington charges he is deliberately undermining NATO and cites numerous instances.

Gertrude Stein Could Not Have Cast Aspersions At Sausalito

GERTRUDE STEIN used to talk about a Bay Area city saying, "There is no there there." This could never be said of Sausalito.

The other day, Wednesday, we were checking the action at the Grand entrance to the new parking lot. A sea gull was sitting on one of the two illegal pilings in the bay. The tourists were drifting in and out, searching for quarters for the lot.

John Rocha was putting finishing touches on the boat cabin to be manned by elder citizens who, starting tomorrow, act as lot attendants. Tomorrow, too, the cost will be simply 10 cents an hour.

John, city street maintenance man, said he remodeled the cabin to fit it out for the senior citizens.

He put in the shelves, a mail box, planter boxes outside fore and aft and is yet to install a rug. "A rug?" we asked. "Ships don't have rugs." "A rug, that's what I said," said John.

JOHN ALSO BUILT the cabin's mast, to be used by attendants in case of emergencies when they are to run up a flag to attract the city's parking officer.

Asking John if he had any funny stories, he said, no but that he had gone cockle hunting the other day with two neighbor girls, Millie and Jeannette Gommeringer. "We each got 50, the limit, and they were really good," he said.

Rocha said to steam a cockle you take a little water, a little butter, chopped parsley, a little chopped garlic and onion and steam until they open up. "They get tough if they steam too long."

Afterwards, he added, the juices make delicious Bordellaise sauce, which can also be used for hangovers. You eat the clams with French bread and red wine, he said. He said the hunt was at Tomales State Park and he uses a tool with two prongs which digs up the cockles about four or five inches down.

CHARLES BROWN advises us that two very unusual happenings happened within the last week: Someone stole from the parking lot machine which is under surveillance of the police department — $58 — and last Monday there was a fire in the fire department on Johnson Street. It seems an emergency generator caught fire when wiring shorted.

At the Tides we picked up some free literature advising us to "Celebrate Thursday." It reads, in part, "Nobody listening to you? Stop yakking. If we stop, everyone will know we want peace and quiet and liberty for all. Celebrate Gentle Thursday, Mar. 25, 1965. . . . Spend the day calmly. Be gentle, Be kind." At the bottom, instead of a union mark, the paper reads: "Labor donated."

The most photographed items in Sausalito are the two elephants and the fountain in Vina Del Mar Square, says Wilma Young. They were given, she adds, by William Faville following the 1915 Panama Pacific Exposition in San Francisco, where they once stood.

THIS IS A BALLAD written by Tere Banducci, Bolinas School seventh grader, one of the entries to be published in the school's annual assignments magazine early in May.

Titled "The Awful Fate," it reads: "A surfer drowns in Stinson Beach, friend watches him go down. His board was found just out of reach, he drowned before the town. Dave paddled swiftly out to sea, to catch the biggest wave. An undertow began to form, and down, 'way down, went Dave. His friends all watched and tried to help, but now, it was too late. Far out, they heard a cry for help, that was the awful fate."

Congress Shows Supreme Court Justices Just Who Is Boss

WASHINGTON — Last week the House of Representatives defeated a bill to give the nine members of the United States Supreme Court a raise of $3,000, and all I can say is, it's about time. When you think of some of the decisions the justices have been making in the last few years, it's surprising the congressmen didn't vote to close down the Supreme Court altogether.

BY REFUSING to give the Supreme Court justices a raise, Congress was saying, in effect, "We may not agree with what you say, but we'll defend to the death our right to see you don't get any extra money for saying it."

As everyone is aware, the Supreme Court justices of the United States are only in their jobs because of the money. If you start hitting them in the pocketbook, they'll think twice about making a decision that will offend members of Congress.

Up until recently the House of Representatives has had little to say about what goes on in the Supreme Court, but everyone hopes that this will soon be corrected. You can't have a government with three separate branches of government all going in different directions, no matter what the Constitution says.

Our congressmen have shown great patience with the judiciary, but the Supreme Court has insisted on remaining independent, because it thought it was immune to the desires of the legislative branch of the government. Little did the nine justices realize that Congress controlled their bread and butter (and pensions) and the representatives would have to do something drastic to get the justices in line.

BY SERVING notice on the Supreme Court, that it can't expect any raises from Congress until it toes the line, the House of Representatives has done a great service to the country.

Some editorials have been written to the effect that Congress had refused the pay raises to get revenge on the court for such unpopular court decisions as the reapportionment of congressional districts. But anyone who has talked to our representatives knows they wouldn't stoop to anything like that. Our congressmen are not out for blood. If the Supreme Court plays along with them, they'll play along with the Supreme Court. But there is no reason to waste taxpayers' money on nine men who are deciding issues differently from the way Congress sees them.

I THINK after last week we can expect an entirely different Supreme Court from the one we've had in the past. I have it on good authority that the wives of our justices were counting on the extra $3,000 raise and have told their husbands to be more cooperative with the members of Congress in the future.

Some wives have asked their husbands to consult with the various congressional chairmen before handing down any important decisions.

IN THIS WAY they can appease Congress and hope that the House will reconsider their raises in the next session of Congress.

The decision to veto the Supreme Court justices' raises will, in the long run, have a very salutary effect on our government, because it will bring the legislative and judicial branches of the government so much closer together. The ideal, of course, would be to make the justices answer to a congressional committee for their actions, but that may have to come later.

10 YEARS AGO

Dixie School District trustees called for a $950,000 bond issue and three-million-dollar state loan election in an effort to bring the district from five classrooms to 24 classrooms in eight months. Enrollment was expected to jump from 120 to 750 by 1956.

Tamalpais High School District trustees, preparing for a bond issue election, said that students may have to go to school in tents next year.

A street with colorful store fronts, awnings and signs, and no automobile traffic, was envisioned at a discussion of the proposed redecoration of downtown Tiburon.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Administrator Seems To Have Changed His Tune Since 1960

FUSSELMAN

THE ADMINISTRATOR, on Nov. 14, 1960, sent me a two-page statement on his concept of "Principles of Conduct" for the administrator office. I have presented the statement in its entirety some weeks ago. Here are some excerpts: "I am a firm believer . . . in the complete responsibility and authority of the elected representatives of the people." . . . "He should expect the members of the board of supervisors to be in a better position than he to take a broad view of the needs of the community as a whole." . . . "If all his recommendations were uniformly and routinely accepted, he should worry either that he was usurping the functions of the board, or that the board was falling down on its job."

HIS NOTICE to all department heads, dated Dec. 4, 1964, I also presented in its entirety. Here is an excerpt: "The meeting will be for department heads only — no assistants or other employees, no press, no members of the board of supervisors."

LAST FRIDAY this column showed that under the umbrella of the double-headed ordinance, which lacks validity as proven by its own section five, in a 10-minute period 22 important decisions were being made by the administrator, for rubber stamping by the board. I asked, "Who is doing the thinking on these matters —the board or the administrator?"

ITEM 33 ON Tuesday's agenda had a lady protesting remarks of" one member of the board. . . . "ADM. RECOM. acknowledgment of letter."

ON JAN. 5, a supervisor asked for a report and recommendations from the administrator's office on the question of organization of the board of supervisors on a committee basis. On Jan. 15, the administrator answered by letter. Here are excerpts: "The purposes of a committee system are assumed to be . . . (1) assurance that complete and objective information is assembled before a matter goes to the full board for decision . . . (2) opportunity for each member to become involved in depth in those matters which are of greatest concern to him . . . (3) fair division of workload among board members. . . . In reviewing this proposal . . . the result is negative and may be summarized by stating that a full-scale committee system would tend: (1) to dilute the individual and collective responsibility of the members of the board of supervisors . . . (2) to dilute the responsibility recently delegated to the county administrator."

DURING THE 22 years I served on the board, every supervisor, with one exception, had a personal private business responsibility. We devoted close to full time for years while we were receiving $100 . . . $150 . . . $250 . . . $300 . . . and $400 per month. Even at $500 some of us put in full time mostly. THIS SHOULD BE FOOD FOR THOUGHT.

THE GENTLEMAN who sent a letter to the editor, in which he remarked that I was around and serving while taxes were going up was completely right . . . and during that time I gained the title of "The Great Dissenter."

Northgate Office Complex To Start

Construction of an office building complex in the Northgate Industrial Park is expected to start within 30 days.

Approval was granted by the San Rafael Planning Commission Tuesday night for a three-building complex at Mitchell Boulevard and the Redwood Highway frontage road, at the main entrance to the park.

The cluuster will be called Margarita Plaza and is being developed by the Margarita Development Co. Gordon Dohemann, general partner in the firm and head of Dohemann and Co., exclusive agent for Northgate Industrial Park, said each building will have approximately 10,000 square feet of floor space. They will be of masonry and glass construction.

Architects and engineers for the project are Simpson, Stratta and Associates of San Francisco. Dohemann said bids for construction will go out April 1. The buildings will be available for lease, for lease with an option to purchase, or for outright purchase, he said.

Northgate Industrial Park a development of the Draper Companies, comprises more than 128 acres. Several parcels have already been purchased and permits have been approved for other individual buildings.

Phone Company Earnings Up

NEW YORK — The highest levels of earnings and sales in its history have been reported by International Telephone and Telegraph Corp.

Earnings per share increased 14 per cent over 1963 and consolidated sales and revenues climbed 8 per cent to a record $1.5 billion, Harold S. Geneen, chairman and president, said.

The fourth quarter of 1964 marked the 22nd consecutive quarter in which sales, net income and earnings per share have exceeded the same period in the preceding year, he noted.

Dr. William A. Galeno of San Rafael is president of the Marin Branch of the American Cancer Society.

INCOME TAX FACTS

Installment Plan Might Cost You

By PETER J. WIKEL, C.P.A.

If you bought or sold property after June 30, 1963, on the installment plan, where the sales price was $3,000 or more and there was no provision in the contract for interest, or an interest rate of less than 4 per cent per annum simple interest, then the Internal Revenue Service may treat a part of each payment as though it were interest.

Peter J. Wikel

This is to close the loophole whereby the selling price of certain property would be increased to cover interest and so have the interest taxed as capital gains instead of ordinary income.

This will not apply if no payment is due later than one year after the sale, or to the purchaser if he can deduct his interest or carrying charges (6 per cent of the average monthly unpaid balance) on page 2 of his Form 1040, or to the seller if the would not be capital gain to him anyway, or to the sale of patents, or to a sale or exchange for an annuity.

The amount to be treated as interest income is in a table prepared by the Internal Revenue Service and included in Temporary Regulations 19.3-1 titled "Present Value of Deferred Payment" (4 per cent per annum simple interest).

Market Sharply Lower In Final-Hour Selling

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market was sharply lower at the close today as selling increased in the final hour.

Trading was fairly active as key stocks throughout the list fell from fractions to one or two points.

IBM lost about six points; Xerox more than 5; Control Data more than 2.

Gold mining shares rallied as the British pound came under pressure. Homestake rose more than a point and American South African Investment more than 2.

Zenith lost 3; New York Central and General Electric more than 2; Pennsylvania Railroad more than a point.

Volume for the day was estimated at 5 million shares compared with 5.41 million yesterday.

Here was the picture near the close:

Losses of key stocks went from fractions to 1 or 2 points.

The market was mixed in early trading but gradually began to weaken. Except for a scattering of selected stocks, the trend was definitely lower, as the market made one of its most decisive moves in a couple of weeks.

Down about 2 points were General Electric, Fibreboard Paper, Zenith, Control Data and Xerox.

IBM lost 4. Off more than a point were Polaroid and U.S. Smelting.

Airlines yielded to further profit taking.

All Big Three motors were fractional losers. Most top steelmakers also took small losses. Tobaccos were narrowly mixed. Rails were irregularly lower.

Prices declined in heavy trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. government bonds held about unchanged.

Cutting Costs

HOUSTON (UPI) — Two University of Toronto chemical engineers say they can cut the cost of desalting seawater one-fourth below any currently used process. The pair, Dr. I. H Spinner and Dr. R. L. Hummel, reported on two advances accomplished by their team. The first, they said, enables "hardness" to be removed using only one-hundreth of the "softener" normally required for the process; the second speeds up the boiling process so that 50 per cent less fuel is required for distillation.

Makes Application

SAN FRANCISCO — Consolidated Freightways, Inc., has announced that it has made application to list its common stock on the New York Stock Exchange.

DETROIT — Retail sales of Chrysler Corp. passenger cars in the mid 10-day sales period of March were 38,058 units, a daily rate of 4,299 units.

Looks Like Cepeda Will Miss Season Opener

MESA, Ariz. (UPI) — It was obvious today that San Francisco Giants pilot Herman Franks is not counting on big Orlando Cepeda to be ready to go by opening day.

He said that the lineup which yesterday lost to Chicago 8-7 here is "the way she'll be in Pittsburgh" on opening day. He added that if lefty Bob Veale goes for the Bucs. Harvey Kuenn will replace Matty Alou in left field.

Otherwise, it was Tom Haller at catcher, Willie McCovey at first, Hal Lanier at second, Jim Ray Hart at third, Jose Pagan at shortstop, and Willie Mays and Jesus Alou in the outfield.

Cepeda has been slow to recoup from his winter knee operation and so McCovey will start the year at first, although Willie's aching feet will mean frequent late inning substitutions for defense purposes.

The regular Giant lineup did bang out 11 hits yesterday and stage an impressive comeback after the Cubs went out in front 5-0 in the fourth.

Pagan's double sparked a three-run burst in the sixth and the Giants scored four more in the seventh as Mays, McCovey and Haller got key hits.

But while the Giant hitters did their share, the pitchers did not. Three men who have been having good springs took their worst lumps of the year.

Gaylord Perry went seven innings and gave up 10 hits and 5 runs. Bob Priddy got rapped for two runs in the ninth and Frank Linzy came on just in time to surrender the Cubs' winning run and take the loss.

Cubs ace Larry Jackson allowed just three hits in five shutout innings. He looks ready for another fine season.

The loss left the Giants at 7-4 for the spring. They take today off and face Chicago again Saturday.

Marin J.C.'s 1948 Nat'l Cage Champs Still Favorite Story

Seventeen years ago this month a small band of Marin Junior College athletes accomplished what still is considered one of the greatest athletic achievements in local history.

Led by a quiet, shy coach named Irwin Diamond, the Marin J.C. Tars of 1948 came out of nowhere to win the national junior college basketball championship. That feat still ranks as my favorite story in 19 years on this sports beat because: It was loaded with drama; was accomplished by a cast of fun-loving, care-free ex-GI's and by a coach, a former Army Infantry Captain, in his very first year on the job; it was a rags to riches yarn that only a Hollywood writer would tackle; and it was a community project, in a sense.

With those ingredients rolled up into one dynamic punch, the 1948 national champs from Marin created a story still remembered vividly by those of us fortunate enough to have witnessed their minor miracle as it unfolded.

The fond memories will be rekindled tomorrow night when 1946-47-48 vintage athletes of then Marin J.C. (now a more sophisticated "College of Marin") will hold their biennial reunion at Nave Lanes in Ignacio. Guests of honor will include Diamond, now the dean of students at COM; Arleigh Williams, dean of men at University of California who was Marin J.C. director of athletics in the years just following World War II; and Harry Pieper, then a frisky young football coach who is now COM director of athletics.

ALL THE old Tars will be back and they'll all have their say. But I hope they'll pardon me if I corner a couple of guys from that 1948 basketball team and for the umteenth time rehash their magnificent achievement.

Rags to riches? The '48 Tars didn't even win their own conference as their 12-2 record was second to San Mateo.

Yet, they qualified for the Pacific Northwest J.C.-Sectional at Sacramento—first step in the national elimination schedule, from which California junior colleges have since withdrawn. At Sacramento the Tars seemed to have come of age for they swept through four straight victories to win the undisputed Pacific Northwest title and a handshake from Gov. Earl Warren.

This (the title, not the handshake) automatically qualified the Tars for a berth in the Nationals at Springfield, Mo., but there was a drawback. They were given only $600 expenses for a trip that would cost at least $2,400. For a while there was fear the Tars would have to forfeit their golden opportunity, but here is where the "community project" angle came in.

SPURRED ON by the old Independent, whose publisher, Roy A. Brown, started the ball rolling with a sizeable contribution, the public rallied behind the Tars and within three days some $3,000 poured into the kitty and Irwin P. "Red" Diamond's Dandies were on their way.

Marin's first round opponent at Springfield was a highly-touted Moberly, Mo. quint—and here is where some of the tension-packed drama sneaks into our script. The Associated Press sent a bulletin and it ticked across our teletype with a thud. The A.P. bulletin read: "Moberly 59, Marin 50."

THE WORD spread through Marin and you could cut the gloom with a knife. The Kentfield campus lowered its tears to half mast. Arleigh Williams got off a telegram to the Tars that said: "Dobbers up, gang. We're proud of you anyway," or words to that effect.

Arleigh's wire still rates as a classic line in Marin sports because it was read by a completely bewildered Coach Diamond.

You see, the A.P. got the score bass ackwards and Marin was very much a winner. The bulletin correction was too late to prevent a flood of tears, but when it came it was like money from home.

The Tars and the A.P. got their scores straight after that. Next it was 56-51 over Dodge City, Kansas. Then 62-53 over Tyler, Tex., putting Marin in the finals against the Murray Aggies of Oklahoma.

BACK HOME here the old Independent news room was crammed with anxious rooters, awaiting word of the final score. Finally the phone jangled the mob into breathless silence. The A.P. man gave the word: "Marin 48, Murray Aggies 34!"

The ensuing celebration nearly blew the roof off the old newspaper building. There were screams and cheers, back slapping and dancing in the streets.

When the Tars returned by train they were greeted by an uncontrollable move of some 3,000 fans in San Francisco, followed by a car caravan home to San Rafael where police roped off Fourth Street in front of the County Court House for a street dance and rally that lasted until the wee small hours.

WEEKS OF banquets followed and awards were heaped on the Marin Tars who had risen from a second place team in their own conference to the national championship. In two weeks, in two pressure-packed tourna-

Redwood, Bulldogs Triumph

A "tape-measure" home run by Redwood High's Steve Mattos and a clutch single by San Rafael's. Tim Witt propelled their teams to victories, but Marin Catholic suffered its first loss of the season yesterday as Marin Athletic League baseballers continued their pre-league activities.

Redwood nipped Oakland High 4-3, San Rafael squeezed past City College of San Francisco's junior varsity 6-5 and Marin Catholic lost to O'Dowd, 8-6.

With Steve LeBeck and Don Roby aboard in the first inning via singles, the long-ball hitting Mattos unloaded a 405-foot home run that sent Redwood on its way to its fifth victory against two losses. Coach Al Endriss, who happens to carry a tape-measure with him whenever Mattos is in the lineup, verified the distance. It was the slugging third sacker's second homer of the spring; he also has a triple and two doubles to his impressive hit parade this season.

In spite of Mattos' tremendous blast, it took a little old squeeze bunt by pitcher Scott Murphy to win the game. In the fourth, Murphy squeezed home Jack Baglietto, who had walked and advanced on an error, with what proved to be the winning run.

It was Murphy's third victory against one loss this season and his second straight route-going performance, indicating he's ready for the league race that starts next week.

SECOND STRAIGHT

Over in San Rafael the Bulldogs, who'd lost their first three games, won their second straight when Witt drilled a single to score Rocky Shone with the winning run in the bottom of the seventh. Shone's earlier single and an error on the play enabled Jay Widmer to score the tying run.

Winning pitcher was Joe Cunningham in relief of Dave Hammond who was driven from the mound by a five-run outburst in the sixth inning.

A two-out, pinch home run by Jules Mendonson broke a 6-6 tie in the top of the seventh and gave Bishop O'Dowd its 8-6 victory over Marin Catholic. It was a tough loss for Marin pitcher Brian King who went the distance on the mound, but who was betrayed by four errors by his mates.

Marin Catholic is now 4-1 on the year with one game ending in a tie.

Lacrosse Coming To Marin

Marin County sports fans will have a chance to witness something new tomorrow when an exhibition game of lacrosse is played at Peacock Cap Country Club in San Rafael.

Players from the Palo Alto and University of California lacrosse clubs will field the two teams, it was announced by Jay Pearson, chairman of the sponsoring Northern California Lacrosse Assn.

Game time is 3 p.m. and admission is free.

A Peacock Gap team is now being organized. Interested persons should get in touch with Dick Mears.

PLAYING FIELD

Played on a field 110 yards long and 60 yards wide, with 10 men on each team, lacrosse is scored by the number of goals made in the lacrosse net. No player, except the goalkeeper, may touch the ball with his hands. The ball is kept in play by being carried, thrown, or batted with the crosse, or it may be rolled or kicked in any direction within bounds. Each score counts 1 point in the four-period game.

Mantle, Manager Deny Reported Dissension

By JOE REICHLER

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—All is sweetness and light and peace and prosperity and good comradeship and nobody is mad at anybody in a reported feud among the New York Yankees.

And they're still losing.

"All I'm trying to do," said manager Johnny Keane, "is trying to find our best possible outfield combination. I've discussed it with both (Mickey) Mantle and (Tom) Tresh and it's no surprise to me that they've been fully co-operative."

Keane's shift of Mantle and his ailing legs from center to left field was what the feud was supposed to be all about. Reports had it that Whitey Ford had sided with Mantle against the new Yankee manager. All three denied it.

"First I'd heard about it," Whitey said, shrugging it off.

"If he (Keane) wants to find out if I can play left field, what can I do but give it a try?" Mantle asked. "I'd kind of like to find out myself."

Later, just before game time, he was joking about it.

"Hadn't you heard?" Mantle asked. "I'm not playing today. I'm mad at the manager."

He played, and played left field, but still looked slow. A liner dropped in front of him in the first inning that another man might have reached. And Roy McMillan's run-scoring double off the wall in the third might have been handled by a faster man.

In the end, the Yankees dropped their eighth game in nine starts. The New York Mets' ancient Warren Spahn stopped the Yankees on four hits through six innings, striking out three and gaining credit for the 3-2 victory.

Spahn, the 43-year-old lefty acquired from Milwaukee, allowed only one run, a homer by Phil Linz. The elderly pitcher had a single, drove in a run with a sacrifice fly and hit a home run.

The report of the feud in yesterday's New York World-Telegram and Sun by baseball writer Joe King caused a quick furor, that was calmed just as quickly.

The writer said the 33-year-old Mantle and his friends on the team were disturbed by Keane's move in shifting him from center to left. Tresh moved over from left to center.

"I don't care where I play as long as they let me hit," Mantle said.

USF MENTOR ADMITS STRAIN IS TOO MUCH

Basketball coach Pete Peletta of the University of San Francisco Dons plans to quit soon because "the drain is just too much."

The 37-year-old coach indicated that next year might be his last at a testimonial dinner Wednesday night for him and his team, which compiled a sparkling 24-5 record.

Paletta has led the Dons to a 92-45 record in five years. But he has been bothered by ulcers and said at the dinner "My coaching days are numbered. The drain is just too much."

FIELD

Poor Grade For Grader At College

An error in grading was blamed last night for the up-and-down-hill terrain of the College of Marin baseball field.

Joseph A. Cotteral of Falk and Booth, architects, gave Marin Junior College District trustees the latest version of why the field is unplayable. Earlier it had been blamed on insufficient fill or uneven settling.

Trustees refused to accept the field as completed until it is "brought to satisfaction."

Trustee Elizabeth M. Deedy wanted to know why the grading error was not spotted when it occurred.

Board president Robert E. Oliver said: "We should change the inspection picture. Someone slipped pretty badly."

The new diamond is so uneven the first baseman must run uphill to get to second base and the second baseman must run uphill to get to first base.

Much Of Giants Prospects Rest With Hurts Of Cepeda, McCovey

CONNOLLY

PHOENIX — When you think of the S.F. Giants you simply have to mention Willie McCovey and Orlando Cepeda as two of the big horses that will either make or break the team's pennant hopes. Without either of them, manager Herman Franks will have to do a hefty bit of juggling and maybe even trade off some of the old standbys. As each day flits by, the red light of fear seems to get brighter and brighter.

After breaking the ice Sunday with the first home run clout of the camp, McCovey went into his shell and is again limping and hopping on one pedal. He won't say he hurt the heel, but he admits it is quite sore.

BESIDES WALKING five and one-half miles daily to the Phoenix ball park and swimming an hour or two a day, Cepeda doesn't show any signs of improving. His knee bothers him. Not a single inning of a ball game has he played. He confesses he'll be ready in another week but those who study his injury are not quite so optimistic.

"We might even change from a power hitting club to strictly a running club," explains Frank, "unless we get our big guns in the lineup."

JACK HIATT, the third string catcher and a powerful hitter, has been giving first base a whirl. But he leaves a lot to be desired as an infielder. Ed Bailey and Harvey Kuenn likewise have been pressed into action. But neither of them are even good substitutes for Cepeda or McCovey, who rates next to Orlando as the man most likely to succeed at first base, if Orlando can't make it.

There isn't much chance of the S. F. Giants getting waivers on any of their best material. Anytime they send out "waiver-feelers," the other clubs put in a claim and of course the names are then withdrawn.

When the Giants first entrained here the big problem seemed to be the selection of the first four or five pitchers who would be picked for starting roles. Now that has completely adjusted itself. The big "grab bag" now is who is going to get the relief jobs.

BOB SHAW UPSET the apple cart for the youngsters by willingly admitting he will be a candidate for the job as ace relief man.

"I'l like to start," Shaw says. "Every pitcher feels the same as I do but I'm not sneezing at being a relief pitcher."

One of the prime candidates listed as having a good chance to enjoy work in the relief department is Frank Linzy, tall right hander from Tacoma who had a brief spell with the parent club last year.

Juan Marichal, Gaylord Hendley, Jack Sanford, Bob Bolin and Ron Herbel are picked by many of the scribes here as the first five. If Shaw moves up, he could push one of these into the relief ranks.

What about Masanori Murakami, the Oriental wizard?

"HE'S A CINCH to be used in relief roles if and when he decides to get on his horse, says pitching Coach Larry Jansen.

The Giants do not intend to make any promises to the Japanese club about sending Murakami back in 1966. Either he comes here as their property or he doesn't come at all. It is pretty silly to think the Giants might concede to use Murakami in 1965 and develop him for the Japanese Hawk club next year.

Bob Priddy, the youngster who came to the Giants in the deal that sent Del Crandall to Pittsburgh, is now ready to start working seriously.

DON'T COUNT him out of the pitching picture of this club, "warns coach Jansen.

The biggest problem here is the uncertainties of the original makeup of the club. They have to get the big guns ready or else this spring training camp will pass into history as being the most useless of any the Giants have experienced in all their many years of conditioning. To start with they had no "jobs" open among the infielders and outfielders. They were only concerned with the selection of the pitchers. Now it is just the reverse. We have a camp full of prospective big leaguers but nobody seems to know whom to pick. And the only guy who falls heir to that pesky task is the new manager Herman the Frank.

ments, they had won eight straight games against the toughest competition!!

Following Diamond from banquet to banquet were his Dandies. There was Herbie Jotter, the watch-fob star whose diminutiveness belied his gigantic talents. He won All-America honors. Then there was the angular, curly-haired Walt Moreno, an art student whose left-handed push shots from outside were the prettiest pictures in his gallery. He was another All-American selection.

AT CENTER was the big, raw-boned Ray Snyder who was a human threshing machine under the offensive boards. Bob McCune was the smoothest ball handler we'd ever seen and Kenny Gardner was about as tough as they come working the backboards.

The squad's depth was supplied by Leroy Rice, Art Feidler, Jim Burchell, Carl Anaclerio and big Howard Glaeser. The latter, given a ranger's hat, resembled Smokey the Bear.

They'll all come back to Marin tomorrow. This is just to let them know we haven't forgotten their minor miracle of '48.

Tune in tomorrow when we'll see what has become of the Diamond Dandies and other Tars of the colorful 1946-48 Marin J.C. athletic era.

"FAVORITE SPORTS MEMOS"
BY JOE BONOMOLO

Mother's Day 1939, Bob Feller made special arrangements for his mother to see him pitch a game. He brought her to Chicago from the farm in Iowa so she could see her son pitch in a Major League game for the first time. Early in the game, Feller hurled a fast ball to one of the White Sox players, who fouled it into the stands . . . Out of the 45,000 people in the park, that foul ball found Feller's mother, struck her on the head, knocking her unconscious . . . Badly injured, she was taken to the hospital . . . It turned out to be the oddest present any pitcher ever gave to his mother on Mother's Day . . .

Spahn Wins A Round In Bragan Feud

By FRED MCMANE
UPI Sports Writer

Bobby Bragan may yet have the last laugh on Warren Spahn, but give round one of their celebrated feud to Spahnnie and credit the Met hurler with a much deserved belly laugh.

The feud between the Milwaukee manager and the former Brave southpaw, which began last July, was rekindled Wednesday when Bragan told reporters that he didn't believe Spahn could pitch any more than three innings a game any more. When Spahn heard this statement, he preferred not to talk but insisted he would let his pitching speak for him.

The 43-year-old hurler wasted no time in proving his point. He went out yesterday and calmly held the New York Yankees at bay for six innings as the Mets defeated the Bombers 3-2. Not only did Spahn's arm do some talking, but his bat as well as he stroked a home run in the seventh off John Breenneman to give the Mets their margin of victory.

Spahn gave up only four hits during his six-inning stint and the only run off him came on a homer by Phil Linz. Larry Bearnarth took over for Spahn in the seventh and preserved the victory, the Mets' fourth in succession. Al Downing took the loss for the Yankees.

While Spahn was busy laughing up his sleeve, Bragan's Braves were unleashing a 16-hit barrage to defeat the Minnesota Twins 9-5. Mudcat Grant was the chief victim of the Braves' onslaught, surrendering six runs and eight hits in three innings. Milwaukee's Tony Cloninger worked five innings and allowed only one hit, but tired in the sixth and Wade Blasingame finished the job.

Woody Woodward had a home run for Milwaukee and Jim Jenkins hit a two-run blast for the Twins.

In other action, the Los Angeles Dodgers beat the Kansas City Athletics 8-5; the Baltimore Orioles topped the Detroit Tigers 7-4; the Chicago White Sox ripped the Pittsburgh Pirates 10-4; the St. Louis Cardinals edged the Houston Astros 8-7; the Cincinnati Reds nipped the Philadelphia Phillies 7-6; the Chicago Cubs downed the San Francisco Giants 8-7; the Cleveland Indians whipped the Los Angeles Angels "B" squad 6-1; and the Angels "A" unit tripped the Boston Red Sox 8-4.

Tommy Davis' three-run pinch-hit homer in the eighth inning powered Los Angeles to victory over Kansas City. Don Drysdale picked up the victory over the Dodgers, but the ace righthander was tagged for nine hits and five runs in his seven-inning stint, including home runs by Bill Bryan and Jim Landis. Catcher Jeff Torborg also homered for the Dodgers.

Tim McCarver's wind-blown two-run pinch double capped a three-run ninth inning rally which enabled St. Louis to defeat Houston. McCarver, who has been out for nine days with a broken finger, batted for pitcher Mike Cuellar and sliced a drive to left to send in the tyng and wnning runs. Redbird starting pitcher Ray Washburn had the game's only home run.

Cincinnati outfielder Art Shamsky, who entered the game when Frank Robinson was ejected, smashed a leadoff homer in the ninth to give the Reds their victory over Philadelphia. Tommy Harper also homered for Cincinnati while Tony Gonzalez, Johnny Callison and Clay Dalrymple hit round-trippers for the Phils.

Detroit Red Wings Clinch NHL Pennant

By BILL HALLS

DETROIT (AP) — Sid Abel, his steel-grey hair smartly in place, had to ask somebody how long he had been coaching the Detroit Red Wings.

"Seven years," said a nimble-minded public relations man.

"It seems more like 17," mused Abel, who until yesterday, had never finished better than fourth in regular season National Hockey League play.

Detroit clinched its first league title since 1956-57 with a 7-4 victory over the New York Rangers. It was the only NHL game scheduled.

"Well, we did it," Abel said in receiving owner Bruce Norris' congratulatory handshake. "I'm sure glad this race is over."

Detroit clinched the title by winning 13 of its last 16 games while Montreal and Chicago faded from contention.

Norm Ullman scored twice to up his season's total to a league-leading 41 goals, highest by a Red Wing since Howe got 44 in 1956-57. Paul Henderson and Eddie Joyal got the others.

New York got two goals from Earl Ingarfield and single tallies from Jean Ratelle and Doug Robinson.

CLAUDE KING

Ex-Caddy Leads Azalea Tourney

WILMINGTON, N.C. (UPI)— Husky Claude King, playing on the course where he once worked as a caddy, took a one-stroke lead score of 65 into today's second round of the 17th annual Azalea Open golf tournament.

King, a native of this port city but now playing out of Virginia Beach, Va., needed only 25 putts yesterday as his approach shots consistently put him within inches of the cup. But his putter was hot when he needed it, especially on the 18th hole where he rolled in a 60-footer for a birdie.

The long birdie putt gave him a 32-33 round and a one-stroke edge over Glenn Stuart of Grand Rapids, Mich., at the Cape Fear Country Club course, where King once worked as a caddy.

Following King and Stuart into the second round was host pro Hamp Auld with a 67. Five golfers — Phil Rodgers, Jackie Cupit, Bob Johnson, Bill Martindale and Gary Sloan — were bunched in fourth place with four-under-par 68s.

The rest of the dates for the playoffs will have to wait until the third and fourth place finishers are determined in this weekend's final round of action.

Vancouver is now in third place and Victoria in fourth, three points back. Fifth place San Francisco will be eliminated from the running by one more Victoria win.

Everybody was idle last night, but Los Angeles is at San Francisco, Victoria at Seattle, and Portland at Victoria tonight.

ANOTHER AWARD FOR COACH CAL RIEMCKE

Cal Riemcke, the Mr. Basketball of Marin County, has another award to hang in his den.

It's the award from the Sports Trail Century Club, an organization maintained by the Bike Division of the Kendall Company of Chicago, Ill. That division makes athletic tapes, supporters and trainer's supplies.

But the award is based on a coach's success in winning, and this is the field which the College of Marin cage mentor knows so well. He has landed in the winners circle a total of 235 times since joining the Tars staff back in 1958.

According to the report from R. H. Neilson, director of the Century Club and a Bike executive: "While constant recognition and praise are given to a few coaches, the great majority receive little thanks for their laborious job. For these reasons, Bike was happy to make the award to coach Riemcke for his outstanding achievement in school sports."

Although Marin didn't win the Golden Valley Conference championship this past season, it was a record setting year. A total of four team records and eight individual marks were cracked by the Tars of 1964-65. Marin had an overall record of 21 wins and 6 losses and a GVC mark of 8-4, good for second place behind Santa Rosa Junior College (11-1).

CAL RIEMCKE
Another award

That is as low in the standings as a Riemcke-coached Tars cage team has ever been — second. In his eight years at the helm, Cal has six championships and two second place finishes. His overall record now stands at 235 wins and 145 losses, a percentage of .612.

Team records set this past season were highest winning score (Marin 118, Yuba 66, Jan. 9, 1965); highest losing score (Contra Costa 108, Marin 97, Dec. 8, 1964); best team season scoring average (89.6 average on 2,419 points); and most team rebounds for one season (1,426).

Three of his players established eight new individual records during the '64-65 season. Guards Jay Johnson and Brad Busch on the scoring end of things and forward Fred Arnold in the rebounding department.

Johnson set new marks for highest season free throw percentage (112 out of 134 for 83.8 per cent); most free throws made in one game (14 vs. Santa Rosa, Feb. 19, 1965); and most consecutive free throws made (23 vs. Santa Rosa, Sierra and Siskiyous). In addition to his scoring, Johnson, a six-footer, set records for most assists for a season (222), and for most assists in one game (13 vs. Porterville, Siskiyous and Santa Rosa).

Busch, a 6-1 guard, had the highest field goal percentage for a season, although playing only half the year, (47.3 per cent, making 178 of 378 shots).

Arnold, the big 6-7 forward, cracked records with most rebounds in one game (21 vs. Napa, Feb. 5, 1965), and most rebounds for the season (349).

The scoring antics of Busch and Johnson put them in a select group of past Tar performers. The group consisted of one, prior to the 1964-65 season, in Lynn Livie, Marin cager in 1961-62 and now a star with Sacramento State's quint. More than 1,000 points have to be scored before entrance is accepted.

Livie hit 1,070 points during his two-year hitch at Marin. Busch wound up with 1,050 before his eligibility ran out in the middle of last season, and Johnson ended his COM career with 1,035 points. Jay was named to the All-Golden Valley Conference first team and Arnold was picked on the second team.

In final conference statistics, Johnson finished in second place among the individual scorers with a 19.5 average. Four other Tars averaged in double figures, Fred Arnold, 12.3; Jim Halm, 11.0; Rod Monti, 10.8, and Bill Brody, 10.1.

And with an eye toward next year, those four basketballers are freshmen with another year of eligibility left. If Riemcke can come up with a pair of top-flight guards for next season, watch out!

When A Hot Run Is On, It Won't Stay Until You Have More Time

STEVENS

Some ancient sage once said: "The saddest words of tongue or pen are these four words 'It might have been!' "

If you'll pardon the lapse into the vernacular, the sage said a mouthful.

Dozens of avid anglers who heard of the remarkable run of salmon outside the Golden Gate were thrilled with the reports. However, they decided to wait a few days when they'd have more free time. Had those same procrastinators gone out Saturday, Sunday or even on Monday or Tuesday, it might have been a trip long to be remembered. But, alas and alack, one group I know which waited until Wednesday boarded a party boat at the Berkeley Harbor, got as far as the G. G. Bridge. The skipper immediately reversed his course and returned to port. "Much too much wind and waves and wetness," one skipper assured me.

WHETHER THE wind storms of Wednesday will scatter the salmon to other parts is a moot question. We'll know very shortly. No question but what the huge schools of salmon will remain in the general area, but they may change locales. Usually such wind storms as we had on Wednesday last for three days. Here's hoping they will blow themselves out before the weekend.

Could I judge the ocean weather by what it is here as I type out the column, I would say the winds have already abated. Certainly they have died down. Just heard the skipper of one party boat that bucked the winds, so some boats did get out on Wednesday.

Tuesday was a fairly successful day for the Sea Horse out of Lee Anderson's place in Oakland—7 limits to 19 pounds. The Lucky Day was just one fish short of limits all around for a party of 5; fish ran to 12 pounds. The Privateer netted an even dozen salmon to 14 pounds.

MY HALICRAFTER just shouted out to be heard. Only a few boats outside, but one, the Salmon Queen, stuck it out long enough to land 14 salmon. "All market size fish," Caruso's Bob reported. The Salmon Queen was on the way back to the barn a little before 11 a.m. "Winds to around 30 miles blowing. A bit too lumpy for us!"

So much for the "Silver Horde," let's peak at the local scene. The San Pablo Bay slowed down almost to a walk as far as stripers are concerned. Rough water and cold winds prevented many from giving it a whirl. Joe Nerviani of Joe's Launching reported only eight bass came in the first two days of this week—about ½ fish per boat on the weekend. China Camp was likewise slow. But, remember, the law of averages is infallible. A few days of slow fishing is made up by a few days of fast and fancy angling.

SOME OF the more lucky anglers from hereabouts worked the upper Sacramento River with some lunker salmon reported being taken, and Shasta Lake has been fairly generous with its yield of brown trout—some caught on bait and some on "Christmas-Tree" lures.

Hoping for a more optimistic report tomorrow. Chow!

MISTER BENCHLEY
Told to reform

Dog Given 'Probation' In Deer Chase

A French poodle named Mister Benchley was given a stern warning in Marin Municipal Court yesterday.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson put Mister Benchley on probation for chasing a deer at Tamalpais Game Refuge last December. At least it would have been called probation if Mister Benchley were a human being instead of a poodle.

The actual complaint was filed against the dog's owner, Mrs. Dale H. McGill of 444 Eldridge Avenue, Mill Valley. Fish and game warden Alfred F. Giddings said Mister Benchley was seen chasing the deer Dec. 31 by an employee of Marin Municipal Water District.

Mrs. McGill "bailed out" Mister Benchley when she paid $10 to get him out of the Marin County Humane Society pound Jan. 4.

Yesterday, attorney William R. Bremer told the court Mrs. McGill would be paying a double penalty if she had to pay a fine as well. He said Mister Benchley had been restricted from activity which might permit further chasing of deer.

Judge Wilson said he would give Mister Benchley until June 1 to mend his ways. If there is no recurrence by that time, he indicated, the complaint may be dismissed.

County Group Honors Retiring A.F. General

The period which Maj. Gen. C.F. Necrason has been at Hamilton represents the best era of the community-base relationship, Chairman Peter H. Behr of the Marin County Board of Supervisors told nearly 100 guests at a luncheon yesterday honoring General Necrason at Peacock Gap Country Club.

The luncheon was sponsored by the Marin County Development Assn. and chambers of commerce of six cities. General Necrason will turn the command of the 28th Aid Division at Hamilton Air Force Base over to Brig. Gen. Carroll W. McColpin next Friday.

General Necrason will retire in June. He will be on special assignment as assistant to the commander of the Air Defense Command until then.

"The relations between the base and Marin County have been good for the past 30 years since the base was located here, but since General Necrason has been here, they are excellent," Behr said.

He outlined some ways the base has helped the community, such as the Black Canyon fire last year in which men from the base turned out to assist in fire fighting.

"We are glad that he (Necrason) is going to stay in the county and keep up the good work he has started," Behr said. The general is having a home built on Old Ranch Road in Novato.

Richard Nave, representing the Novato Chamber of Commerc, thanked General Necrason for giving much to Novato.

Maj. Gen. Andrew Lolli, commander of the 28th North American Defense Region, said General Necrason is the type of man "who makes you look good in spite of your shortcomings."

General Lolli then presented General Necrason with a scrapbook of clippings about Necrason which went back to World War II.

General Necrason thanked the group for the compliments and said he was going to become a "permanent part of marvelous, but expensive, Marin."

Rex T. Silvernale, president of the development association, welcomed General McColpin to Marin County.

"I've always had confidence in myself, but I don't know what kind of a crowd I'm getting into after hearing all of the good things said about General Necrason," McColpin said.

Terra Linda Rec Program May Expand

Directors of Terra Linda Recreation and Parks District Wednesday agreed to schedule a meeting at 8 p.m. April 7 to re-evaluate the entire recreation program with the idea of expanding it.

Chairman Jack Brandon said addition of debates and lectures for both youths and adults, scuba diving classes, a day nursery and other programs is geing considered.

Directors authorized removal of the pyracantha along the center of Las Gallinas road and planting of trees there instead. Brandon said the pyracantha constantly has to be trimmed back to prevent it from becoming a traffic hazard.

Since the swimming season has been extended to October during the past two years, the directors agreed to raid raise the rates from $12 to $15 for a single membership and from $30 to $35 for a family membership. The board also agreed to increase daily rates for children 2 to 11 from 50 to 60 cents and for children 12 to 18 from 75 to 90 cents.

Cement Truck Squashes Auto

A cement truck didn't make it around a curve of Lucas Valley Road Wednesday and overturned on top of a car, crushing it.

Truck driver Harold L. Kelly, 38, of 515 Tamalpais Drive, Corte Madera, was charged by California Highway Patrolmen with unsafe speed on the curving road about five miles west of juvenile hall.

Car driver Robert Kittell, 42, of 1310 Kaehler Street, Novato, saw the truck coming and headed his 1960 Lincoln for the ditch. But the truck, from Rich Readimix Concrete, Inc., Greenbrae, tipped over on the car.

Europe Is The 'Place' For Marinites

By MOLLY MARIN

George Andrew Nixon, son of Capt. and Mrs. Harold E. Nixon of Lucas Valley is one of the group of eighty students leaving Sunday for Stanford-Italy. Andy, a pre-med junior at Stanford, will spend six months studying at Stanford's Florence campus and then travel about Europe. Mrs. Nixon's mother, Mrs. W. Herbert Cairnes of Jarretsville, Md., has been a house guest of the Nixons for several months.

THOUGH the European trip from which the John Lauries have just returned to their home in Mill Valley was for pleasure, art was a predominant interest everywhere since both are concerned with it professionally.

Mrs. Laurie is with the Quay Gallery in Tiburon, and her husband is vice president in charge of the art department of the advertising firm of Batten, Barton, Durstine and Osborn, Inc. in San Francisco. Leaving the middle of January, they arrived in London just after the funeral of Sir Winston Churchill, while this event was still leaving a deep impression on the life of the people.

They were impressed with the Peggy Guggenheim collection at the Tate National Art Gallery in London and with the sculpture of Jacob Epstein, a special interest of Jean Laurie's. Their itinerary also included Italy and France, where they visited the famed Louvre in Paris. In Paris, they were joined by the Roger Verrans, formerly of Mill Valley.

ON SUNDAY EVENING Mrs. Beverly Bittner of Tiburon gave a cocktail - dinner party in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Mann of Tiburon, who just returned from a three week trip to Mexico. Ron Mann frequently goes to Mexico searching for old, odd and unusual Mexican art work for his Tiburon shop. The Manns were joined in Mexico City by Mrs. Mann's mother, Mrs. Annabelle Selby of Michigan.

The cocktail - dinner party guests were Dr. and Mrs. Robert Sitkin, and Messrs and Mesdames William Johnstone and Andrew Anderson, all of Belvedere; Messrs and Mesdames David Russell, William Adams, Robert Boat, Rolph Beere, Ruck Baker, Bruce Keppel, Mrs. Nelly Mann, Mr. Mann's mother; Mrs. Michell Abramson, and Edward Navarro, Henry Kaufmann and Neville Noel, all of Tiburon, Mrs. Annabell Selby of Michigan and Dirk Sargeant of San Francisco, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Engman of Sausalito.

FASHIONS FOLLOW LUNCHEON

Mrs. Carl Johnson was chairman, and Mrs. Charles A. Lascy, co-chairman. Fashions were provided by Mrs. Ruth Murphy.

Black Powder

One face powder manufacturer, after studying the techniques used by artists to produce flesh tones, believes powder should have a touch of black in it. Three new shades that duplicate skin tones utilize the secret and are available in compacts containing mirror, puff and the powder, which also serves as a foundation.

Abusive Callers Seen To Be Greatly Afraid Of Women

NEW YORK (UPI) — Psychatric science advises women they have the upper hand psychologically in any encounter with a male stranger who abuses them with words.

"These men are tremendously afraid of women deep down underneath," said Dr. Lewis R. Wolberg, dean and medical director of New York's Postgraduate Center for Mental Health. "When the woman stands up to them they usually slink off. But the woman who permits herself to be cowed by them could be in grave danger."

Wolberg spoke of the tiny minority of telephonic would - be terrifiers of women who now and then are emboldened by a chance opportunity to abuse a woman verbally face-to-face.

As for the vast majority of these men who only call female strangers on the telephone, often in the middle of the night a woman should tell her anonymous abusive caller that he is a yellow-bellied louse (or words to that effect) and with no uncertain contempt, in Wolber's psychiatric opinion. "The chances are he won't call back," he said.

Psychiatry understands these telephonic would-be terrifiers of woman quite well because over the years and in many places it has had all but uncountable opportunities to study them.

The opportunities are provided by police and courts. Almost invariably when one is caught he is required to submit to psychiatric examination. Law enforcement agencies are baffled by these offenders. From the laws in the book their offenses have been minor and won't earn them more than a short jail term. They will seem sane but authorities often consider them potentially dangerous.

They're all psychiatrically sick, without exception. They fall into broad category labeled "psychopathic personality" for which psychiatry has no really effective treatment. The trouble is that a "psychopathic personality" is extremely deficient in conscience.

Today is Friday, March 26, the 85th day of 1965 with 280 to follow.

The moon is approaching its new phase. The morning star is Mars. The evening stars are Mars, Mercury and Jupiter.

American poet Robert Frost was born on this day in 1875.

On this day in history:

In 1918, Gen. Ferdinand Foch of France was named commander of all Allies' armies in the war against Germany.

In 1923, Sarah Bernhardt died in Paris at the age of 81.

In 1953, Dr. Jonas Salk announced a new vaccine capable of immunizing humans against polio.

In 1962, the Supreme Court gave U. S. judges the power to rule on apportionment of seats in state legislatures.

A though for the day — American poet Walt Whitman wrote: "Once fully enslaved, no nation, state, city of this earth, ever after resumes its its liberty."

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Artistic Player Uses His Imagination In Bridge Game

Art gives us a chance to show how things ought to be — in bridge hands, if in nothing else.

If you compare what actually happened with what you hear about a bridge hand from the players you appreciate the art of story telling. You may also begin to wonder about what you have read in history books.

You have 10 points in high cards and 2 points for the two doubletons. It is unusual to open a 12-point hand, but you may do so when you have a good major suit and when your high cards are in good combination. In this case your high cards give you two and one-half quick tricks, which is enough for a borderline opening bid.

For Sheinwold's 36-page booklet, "Pocket Guide to Bridge," send 50 cents to Bridge Book, Independent-Journal, P.O. Box 330, San Rafael.

Opening lead — ♠ K

When this hand was actually played, West led and continued spades.

THIRD SPADE

South ruffed the third spade, cashed the top diamonds, and ruffed a diamond in dummy. He cashed the aces of hearts and clubs and led a low club from dummy.

West won with the jack and tried to cash the king of clubs. South ruffed, drew a round of trumps and gave up one trump trick, claiming his contract.

"Very inartistic," I commented from my kibitzing chair. "You should step up with the queen of clubs," I told East, "and then lead the queen of spades. You get two trump tricks that way instead of only one."

ACCUSING LOOK

Everybody looked accusingly at East, but I broke in again. "You should make the contract anyway," I told South.

"After you've ruffed the diamond and cashed dummy's two aces, lead the last spade from dummy instead of a low club. Throw your nine of clubs on this spade trick, and now the defense can't hurt you."

The next day the South player and I had lunch together, and he told another friend how he had played this hand.

VERY DRAMATIC

His voice got very dramatic as he described his play of the last spade from dummy.

"It might be a good hand for your column," he remarked, as he closed his artistic bit of narration. "It might teach your readers a good lesson."

It will also teach me a good lesson. A kibitzer should keep his mouth shut if he prizes truth above art.

When a Family Buys A Home in Central Marin . . . Where Do They Come From?

Latest Research* shows that 69.7% of home buyers in Central Marin are ALREADY LIVING in the County.

This is a ratio of MORE THAN 3½ to 1 than from San Francisco.

BUYER ORIGIN	%
Marin County	69.7
San Francisco	19.6

- The Prime Market then, for home sales, is Marin itself . . . and the I-J Classified "gets home" to the people who buy the MOST HOMES in Marin . . . Marin families themselves because the I-J covers 2 out of 3 homes in the County.
- The I-J daily circulation in Marin County is GREATER than that of the San Francisco Chronicle and the Examiner COMBINED!!
- NO WASTE — NO HIGH-PRICED SPACE GOING TO NON-PRODUCTIVE AREAS.

When a Family Buys A Home in Northern Marin . . . Where Do They Come From?

Latest research* shows that 71.9% of home buyers in Northern Marin are ALREADY LIVING in the County.

This is a ratio of almost 5 to 1 MORE than from San Francisco.

BUYER ORIGIN	%
Marin County	71.9
San Francisco	14.6

- The Prime Market then, for home sales, is Marin itself . . . and the I-J Classified "gets home" to the people who buy the MOST HOMES in Marin . . . Marin families themselves because the I-J covers 2 out of 3 homes in the County.
- The I-J daily circulation in Marin County is GREATER than that of the San Francisco Chronicle and the Examiner COMBINED!!
- NO WASTE — NO HIGH PRICED SPACE GOING TO NON-PRODUCTIVE AREAS.

When a Family Buys A Home in Southern Marin . . . Where Do They Come From?

Latest Research* shows that 65.9% of home buyers in Southern Marin are ALREADY LIVING in the County.

This is a ratio of MORE THAN 2 to 1 than from San Francisco.

BUYER ORIGIN	%
Marin County	65.9
San Francisco	31.9

- The Prime Market then, for home sales, is Marin itself . . . and the I-J Classified "gets home" to the people who buy the MOST HOMES in Marin . . . Marin families themselves because the I-J covers 2 out of 3 homes in the County.
- The I-J daily circulation in Marin County is GREATER than that of the San Francisco Chronicle and the Examiner COMBINED!!
- NO WASTE — NO HIGH PRICED SPACE GOING TO NON-PRODUCTIVE AREAS.

In addition, bidders are requested (but not required) to supply an estimate of the total net interest cost to the district on the basis of their respective bids, which shall be considered as informative only and not binding on either the bidder or the district. Checks of the unsuccessful bidders will be returned by the County Clerk by mail upon the award of the bonds. No interest will be paid upon deposit made by the successful bidder.

There is no controversy or litigation pending concerning the validity of the above issue, the corporate existence of said district or the title of the officers to their respective offices and the Board of Supervisors will deliver to the successful bidder a no-litigation certificate certifying to the foregoing as of and at the time of the delivery of the bonds.

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN, CALIFORNIA
ORDINANCE NO. 1422
AN INTERIM ORDINANCE OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN PROHIBITING KENNELS WITHIN A-2 (LIMITED AGRICULTURAL DISTRICTS, PERTAINING TO ADOPTION OF AN AMENDMENT TO THE MARIN COUNTY ZONING ORDINANCE

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN, STATE OF CALIFORNIA, DO ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION 1. The Board of Supervisors hereby finds as follows:

(a) The Marin County Planning Department, in good faith, intends to conduct studies for the purpose of holding hearings pertaining to the adoption of an amendment to the Marin County Zoning Ordinance in connection with the installation and utilization of kennels in A-2 (Limited Agricultural) Districts.

(b) Installation of kennels within said A-2 (Limited Agricultural) Districts in a manner inconsistent with said proposed amendments or at variance with any ultimate action taken in connection with said A-2 (Limited Agricultural) Districts, will seriously impede the effectiveness of such zoning and will impair or prevent the implementation thereof. To protect the public health, safety and welfare pending preparation and adoption of said amendment to the zoning ordinance, it is necessary to adopt a temporary interim zoning ordinance, in accordance with provisions of Government Code Section 65806, prohibiting the establishment of any dog kennels in said A-2 (Limited Agricultural) Districts, which may conflict with said proposed amendment to the Zoning Ordinance.

SECTION 2. Except for existing uses in their present form, no land, building or structure located within an A-2 (Limited Agricultural) District established by the Marin County Zoning Ordinance shall hereafter be developed, or used for kennel purposes unless a use permit is issued therefor, in the manner prescribed in Ordinance No. 264. Use permits will be issued only upon a determination and finding that said use will not, in any way, conflict with the provisions of said proposed amendment to the zoning ordinance.

SECTION 3. The provisions of Marin County Ordinance No. 264, to the extent that they do not conflict herewith are incorporated herein as if more fully set forth.

SECTION 4. Any person, firm or corporation, whether as principal, agent, employee, or otherwise, violating or causing or permitting the violation of any of the provisions of this ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punishable by a fine of not more than Five Hundred ($500.00) Dollars or by imprisonment in the County Jail of said County for a term not exceeding one hundred and eighty (180) days, or by both such fine and imprisonment. Such person, firm or corporation shall be deemed to be guilty of a separate offense for each and every day during any portion of which any violation of this ordinance is committed, continued or permitted by such person, firm, or corporation, and shall be punishable as herein provided.

Any building or structure set up, erected, constructed, altered, enlarged, converted, moved or maintained contrary to the provisions of this ordinance and/or any use of any land, building or premises established, conducted, operated or maintained contrary to the provisions of this ordinance shall be and the same is hereby declared to be unlawful and a public nuisance and the District Attorney of said County shall, upon order of the Board of Supervisors, immediately commence action of proceedings for the abatement and removal and enjoinment thereof in the manner provided by law and shall take such other steps and shall apply to such court or courts as may have jurisdiction to grant such relief as will abate and remove such building or structure and restrain and enjoin any person, firm or corporation from setting up, erecting, building, maintaining or using any property contrary to the provisions of this ordinance.

SECTION 5. Validity. If any section, sub-section, sentence, clause or phrase of this ordinance is for any reason held by a court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this ordinance. The Board of Supervisors hereby declares that it would have passed this ordinance and each section, sub-section, sentence, clause and phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more sections, subsections, sentences, clauses or phrases be declared invalid.

SECTION 6. This ordinance is hereby declared to be an urgency measure and shall be in full force and effect immediately upon its adoption. Within fifteen (15) days after adoption, this ordinance shall be published in the Independent-Journal, a newspaper of general circulation printed and published in the County of Marin. The conditions constituting such urgency are as follows: Erection, construction, conversion, alteration or moving of certain buildings or structures contrary to the provisions of this ordinance is deemed to be a menace to the public health, safety, peace and general welfare for the reasons set forth in Section 1 hereof.

The immediate operation of this ordinance is, therefore, necessary to protect the public health, peace, safety and general welfare.

SECTION 7. This ordinance shall be of no further force and effect six months after the date of adoption hereof.

Paint Equipment Stolen In Marin

Burglary of $1,165 worth of painting equipment was reported yesterday to sheriff's officers by Max Miller, 2720 Redwood Highway, California Park.

Miller, painting contractor, told deputies someone pried a lock and hasp from his rear yard storage garage and took two paint sprayers and an electric saw. He said the break-in was since Tuesday.

Patricia Reynolds, Circle Drive, Tiburon, told officers $7.50 in cash was taken Wednesday from her unlocked house.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Current Reducing Fad Cuts Down On Your Intake Of Carbohydrates

VAN DELLEN

It is incorrect to label any food as particularly fattening. Most edibles increase weight when taken in sufficient quantity. Carbohydrates (sugars and starcehs) often are labeled as such because most of us consume large amounts in our daily diet. They are cheap, taste good, and often used in confections. When food is ingested in excess of the body needs, whether taken in the form of carbohydrates, proteins or fats, the equivalent of excess calories is deposited as fat.

The ideal diet of the average woman contains 2,200 calories of which 58 grams are protein, 77 are fat, and 170 are carbohydrate. The corresponding figures for men are 3,000, 70, 77, and 170. Reduce the number of grams for any of these and the individual consumes fewer calories.

THE CURRENT reducing fad recommends a drastic reduction in carbohydrates. The reduction is in grams; we assume this is done to free the ominous calorie. Those familiar with nutrition know that each gram of protein or carbohydrate has an energy-producing value of four calories and a gram of fat produces nine.

Carbohydrates are the primary source of body fuel. It is readily available and used as needed to supply the energy required for various bodily functions, heat, and muscular contractions. When the supply of carbohydrate is curtailed, the body must resort to stored fats and proteins for energy. This is a slower process because it means that other foodstuffs must be converted into carbohydrates. In addition, a certain number of calories are required to make the conversion.

AS A RESULT, the deposits of fat must go to work and weight is lost so long as the individual does not step up his normal intake of fats and proteins. This is unlikely because too much fat is nauseatting and protein is expensive. This type of diet is not for the athlete because he loses his quick source of energy.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

OVERSIZED EYEBALLS

Mrs. O. writes: Is there some disease or deficiency connected with oversized eyeballs? My husband has protruding eyeballs and my 4-year-old son has large eyes.

REPLY

The most common cause of this condition is an overactive thyroid gland but now and then the trait is hereditary and has no relation to disease.

ALLIED CONDITIONS

L. K. writes: Is cerebral arteriosclerosis the same as a stroke?

REPLY

No. Many individuals who have had apoplexy also have cerebral arteriosclerosis (hardening of the arteries of the brain). Should a stroke occur, one of these vessels is plugged (thrombosis) or ruptured (hemorrhage).

DONATING BLOOD

G. J. M. writes: Does a person's age deter him from donating blood?

REPLY

Yes, in that we do not recommend that babies, children, and oldsters give blood.

EGGS FOR BREAKFAST

G. J. writes: What does a yellowish ring around the mouth indicate?

REPLY

Eggs or orange juice for breakfast.

KNOBS ON FINGERS

F. T. writes: Are typists more likely than other women to develop knobs on the fingers?

REPLY

No. In this condition, age plays a greater role than occupation.

CANCER OF STOMACH

L. R. B. writes: Is it true that stomach cancer causes no symptoms until it is well advanced?

REPLY

Yes, although many victims tell of having had vague gastrointestinal symptoms that were neglected.

NO FAST FOR DIABETICS

I. T. writes: Can a diabetic (on insulin) safely go on a three-day fast to reduce?

REPLY

No. He is in danger of going into shock if he continues insulin as he fasts. If insulin is omitted, diabetes is likely to get out of control.

BLOOD URIC ACID

R. M. M. writes: Would donating a pint of blood reduce the uric acid content?

REPLY

Possibly—for a few days—because of a temporary dilution of the blood.

ANTABUSE FOR DRINKERS

W. E. E. writes: I'm an alcoholic who has been taking antabuse for a year. Friends tell me I ought to stop it now, because it may affect my liver. Is this likely?

REPLY

Tests can be made of the liver and there is no need to discontinue the drug unless these are positive. After all, alcohol is not exactly a liver lover and if antabuse is working so well why not keep it up?

FISH FOR RELAXATION

F. L. B. writes: My doctor insisted I retire after my heart attack. We are living in the south. Would it be safe for me to go fishing?

REPLY

Yes, provided the line is cut when a 50-pounder gets on and the sport does not overexcite you. Fishing is relaxing, but under certain conditions, becomes hard work.

NONOPTICAL HEADACHES

Mrs. E. R. writes: What would cause severe headaches around the eyes when opthamologists can find nothing wrong?

REPLY

Sinus disease, nasal congestion, tension, and fatigue are possibilities.

ORANGES AND ACNE

R. P. writes: Would two oranges a day make acne worse?

REPLY

Oranges seldom are implicated in acne but this is an individual problem that must be determined by trial and error.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

A. L. writes: Is it true there is no cure for high blood pressure and that one who has it must take pills forever to keep it down?

REPLY

There are several types of hypertension. Most victims have essential or vascular hypertension, which is controled—but not cured—with drugs. A small percentage have renal hypertension, which is remedied via surgery.

SELF-CURE

C. M. writes: Could a 76-year-old person cure himself of a nervous breakdown without taking medicine?

REPLY

Yes, provided he has insight into the problem and is able to compensate for or correct it. Faith also helps: "Fear not, for I am with thee."

PARKINSONISM

B. R. writes: Please explain Parkinson's syndrome.

REPLY

The three cardinal symptoms of this disease are: (1) Tremor of the hands and head, (2) stiffness of the muscles, and (3) a set, staring expression.

INFECTED TONSILS

Mrs. K. writes: Could bad tonsils cause one attack of strep throat after another?

REPLY

This is a good possibility. If so, the tonsils should be removed.

SHORT STATURE

K.V.M. writes: Can an operation be performed on a young man to increase his height one or two inches?

REPLY

Yes, but it is safer and much easier to be content with what he has. After all, many successful and influential people have been shorter than average. Growth hormones are capable of increasing height but, far practical purposes, they are too difficult to obtain.

DIZZINESS

Mrs. K. writes: Will cortisone help control dizziness from Meniere's disease?

REPLY

No. The best remedies are motion sickness drugs such as Dramamine, diuretics, niacin, and a low salt diet.

Today's Health Hint—Blurred vision may mean glaucoma.

TELEVISION REVIEW

September Idiocy: Time Of Premieres

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Unless there is a change in plans, televiewers and critics will go through one week of unparalleled video horror and idiocy in September.

As matters now stand, spokesmen confirm that at least two networks—and very possibly all three—will offer all the premieres of their 1965-66 entertainment lineups in the seven days starting Sept. 13.

Actually, this is considered a conservative appraisal, with most sources flatly expecting a head-on three-network collision.

Viewers who stick with a single show therefore would miss the majority of the premieres—old series as well as new ones.

Critics who review opening episodes on a spot basis would be faced with an appalling number of shows to squeeze into a single column. On the other hand, the squeezing would probably result in a more appropriate amount of space per show in relation to its worth.

The reason for the current plan to butt heads is ratings. ABC-TV first premiered all its shows in one week several seasons ago and made no appreciable rating gain. But it did the same thing this season, got off to a flying start and is now a ratings power.

CBS-TV presented all or most of its lineup this season in the week following ABC-TV's premieres. NBC-TV spread its premieres out over a number of weeks.

Considering the quality of this fall's three-network entertainment lineup, never in television history has so much fuss been made by so many about so little.

THE CHANNEL SWIM: CBS-TV's new series about a prosecutor, "For the People," is replaced May 16 by one-hour repeats of "Twilight Zone" . . . ABC-TV's hillbilly atrocity, "No Time For Sergeants," is being canceled. Same network's "Issues and Answers" pulls a switch April 4 and offers Maurice Chevalier giving his views on everything from women to the watusi. . . America's No. 1 socialist, Norman Thomas, is profiled on CBS-TV's "Twentieth Century" April 11 . . . James Forman, executive secretary of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee SNCC, appears Sunday on CBS-TV's "Face The Nation."

History Society Sees Threat To Landmark Rock

Someone with a bulldozer has threatened to destroy an historic landmark in northern Marin, and the Marin County Historical Society plans to go to court if necessary to see that it doesn't happen again.

Members discovered this week that the landmark, a huge rock on the famed Burdell Ranch north of Novato, had been moved without permsission of the ranch's new owners.

The rock was once a communal kitchen of Indians on the site, long called Rancho Olompali. A dozen or more deep hollows, in which Indian women ground wild oats and acorns with pestles, are visible.

The society may seek a restraining order to protect the rock. A decision is expected when the society meets at 1:30 p.m. April 25 at Sausalito's Central School.

Jack Brandon is chairman of the board of Terra Linda Recreation and Parks District and William A. Gordon is recreation director.

Transit Labor Pact Studied

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Bay Area Rapid Transit District and more than 90 labor unions will soon act on a contract aimed at making the seven-year rapid transit construction project almost strike-proof.

Labor groups will decide on the contract next Monday and the rapid transit district directors will take action in two weeks.

The contract would permit no strikes and unions would not be allowed to honor any picket lines set up against their employers "by any other union or unions." The contract would forbid employers from setting up lockouts of union members.

During 1967-68, the peak years of rapid transit construction, the contract would cover as many as 8,000 workers.

Music Assistant

Mary Lois Rubey, daughter of George W. Franzman of 366 Forbes Avenue, San Rafael, will be assistant concertmaster with the University of California at Santa Barbara's symphony orchestra when it performs at 8:30 p.m. April 11 at the University of San Francisco. She is a graduate student in music.

MARIN FILM FARE

'Pumpkin Eater' In Novato; 'Cleopatra' Opens Tonight

By LES DARD

There's a big variety of films for Marin moviegoers this weekend:

NOVATO THEATER

"The Pumpkin Eater," opening Sunday, earned a best actress award at Cannes for Anne Bancroft.

She playes a much married mother with several offspring who suddenly finds herself wealthy and living in leisure. For the first time she is able to take a look at herself. The experience proves an ordeal.

Peter Finch plays her husband.

Co-featured is "Fail Safe."

TIBURON PLAYHOUSE

"Cleopatra". Starts tonight with Elizabeth Taylor in title role.

It is the story of the ancient Egyptian queen and her dependencies on Rome, both political and romantic.

Cleo's first alliance is with Caesar, played by Rex Harrison. In the second half of the film, Richard Burton stars as Antony.

RAFAEL THEATER

In "How to Murder Your Wife," held over. Jack Lemmon plays a well-off bachelor whose idyllic life changes very suddenly for the funnier.

He gets over indulged in a La Dolce Vita type party, and wakes up the next morning married to the very beautiful Virna Lisi.

But she's one of those women who has to change her man. This Lemmon won't stand for, so he and his gap-toothed manservant, Terry Thomas, dream up a plot to get rid of her.

101 DRIVE-IN

Christopher Plummer, Stephen Boyd, Sophia Loren, Alec Guinness and James Mason star in the Samuel Bronstein production of "The Fall of the Roman Empire," starting tonight.

When Emperor Marcus Aurelius dies, his son Commodus inherits the throne. Under the new ruler, the father's good works are destroyed, the captured peoples revolt, and the frontiers of Rome crumble.

FAIRFAX THEATER

Kim Stanley and Richard Attenborough star in the tense and deeply effective "Seance on a Wet Afternoon," held over.

Miss Stanley does an extraordinary job as a smalltime medium who concocts a plot that includes kidnapping. The idea is for her to demonstrate her powers by "finding" the kidnaped child and the ransom money.

Attenborough is her husband.

LARK THEATER

Held over again is "Marriage—Italian Style," the sensitive story of a woman's long fight for respectability.

A 22-year marriage that is not a marriage starts when we see Sophia Loren as a 17-year-old prostitute in a Naples brothel as she first meets Marcello Mastroianni. We see them mature together, grow dependent upon each other.

But this is not enough for Sophia. Legal marriage—in the eyes of the church—is what she wants. And finally, she tricks him into it.

TAMALPAIS THEATER

One of the season's top chillers is held over: "Hush . . . Hush, Sweet Charlotte," starring Bette Davis and Olivia de Havilland.

Many years after the meat cleaver murder of her lover, Miss Davis has settled into life as an embittered, friendless recluse.

When some highway officials want to run a freeway through Miss Davis' old mansion, she is against it. Townspeople think it's because she's afraid the diggers will turn up old bones.

Miss de Havilland plays her chic cousin, and Joseph Cotten an old beau and adviser.

SEQUOIA THEATER

A very different Cary Grant is the central character of "Father Goose," held over.

At first, he's a beach bum on a lonely island, reluctantly serving as a coast watcher for the Allies during World War II. His code name is Mother Goose.

Mother Goose becomes Father Goose when Leslie Caron and seven little girls, refugees of the Japanese, arrive.

The Motor Movies Drive-In is still closed.

Yolo Health Aide To Talk At TB Event

Dr. Herbert Bauer, public health director of Yolo County, will speak at the annual dinner meeting of the Marin Tuberculosis and Health Assn. at Sabella's Restaurant on Highway 101 in Alto at 7:30 p.m. April 5.

Bauer, past president of both the California Conference of Local Health Officers and the Northern California Public Health Assn., will speak on "The White Paper on the White Plague." The paper presents a three-year plan to eradicate tuberculosis in California.

Jerry Lewis Named Director Of Year

HOLLYWOOD
By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Guess who the French film critics honored as the best director of 1964.

(A) Serge Bourguignon (Sundays and Cybele)

(B) George Cukor (My Fair Lady)

(C) Jerry Lewis (The Nutty Professor)

(D) Michael Cacoyannis (Zorba The Greek)

Answer—(C) Jerry Lewis.

Don't laugh.

The French are extremely persnickety about directors. From a Gallic point of view direction is the name of the movie game. They bestow the honor with the solemnity of a coronation.

They chose Lewis as director of the year for the artistry and imagination with which he put together "The Nutty Professor."

The fact that the star of the picture was comedian Jerry Lewis had no bearing on the award. There is, in fact, a tremendous difference between director Lewis and the funny man on the screen.

Watching Lewis direct is a revelation.

He appears to be everywhere at once, guiding, advising, demonstrating. He rides the camera boom, his eye fastened to the viewfinder. More importantly, Lewis doesn't clown around. He is all business.

His innovations and experiments may revolutionize directing.

Lewis is the first to use closed circuit television and video tape in a soundstage for movies.

He directs a scene, then watches an instantaneous replay of the tape which catches the same action as the film in the movie camera. Instead of shooting the scene over and over again, gambling that he will get one good "take" from the rushes, director Lewis knows the answer right away.

The process saves hours and hours of work, frustration, and the need for expensive retakes long after the picture is completed.

As for winning the French award, Lewis is at once gratified and surprised.

Gratified because he recognized his own worth and genius behind the camera, but no one else appeared to notice. Now the toughest critics in the world have given him his due.

"It means a great deal to me," he said. "It's a tremendous honor."

New Sausalito Paper Plans To Publish April 14

The Sausalito Sentinel, a weekly newspaper, is to appear for the first time April 14, Richard Christian, president of International Promotional Advisors Inc. said today.

Christian said the paper is to be printed by Gutenberg Press of San Francisco temporarily. He said International Promotional Advisors is negotiating with Gutenberg Press for a merger whereby printing equipment might be located in Sausalito at 317 Main Street, in property owned by Mrs. Marsha Owen (Sally Stanford). Mrs. Owen is vice president of the company, which owns the Vacaville Sentinel.

The company, Christian said, is also planning to buy two other newspapers, both in Northern California, one in Sacramento, within the next eight months.

North Beach Nightlife Hit

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A citizens committee has complained to San Francisco Mayor John F. Shelley that the Broadway strip of tourist nightlife in North Beach is lawless and immoral.

"A very bad situation exists," said Father Larry Byrne of the Salesian Boys Club. "Things have gone from bad to worse in North Beach."

Shelley assured the group that the police are concerned about situations in the North Beach area.

"This is NOT an open town," Shelley said. The mayor said he was speaking for the police department and his administration.

President of the Marin Museum Assn. is Mrs. Edward B. Hayden.

Stinson Fire Rule Change

Stinson Beach Fire Protection District commissioners Wednesday night adopted an amendment to the ordinance regarding out-of-doors burning.

It authorizes Fire Chief Ira Switzer to establish periods during which out-of-door burning may be done without permits, and to specify conditions. It also conforms with county regulations regarding open and closed fire periods.

The previous ordinance, according to Mrs. Harriet M. Greene, assistant secretary, required that persons must have a permit and could not burn after 11 a.m.

Library Request

The Sausalito Library board Wednesday night heard that the Friends of the Library, headed by president Mrs. Robert Scarborough, is requesting the Sausalito City Council finance committee to set aside $100,000 in the fiscal 1966 budget for building a new library.

BUS FLEET—A closely coordinated fleet of 20 buses helps to get San Rafael youngsters to and from school each day. Shown here are a few of the buses as youngsters at Davidson School climb aboard at the end of a school day.

Bus Fleet One Reason For Asking Tax Hike

Twenty buses, ranging from 12 to 79 passenger sizes, make up a fleet which carries San Rafael school pupils to classes each day and home again each afternoon.

The fleet covers a network of routes which run from the southern limits of Novato to San Quentin Prison.

It also costs the San Rafael elementary and high school districts more than $100,000 per year to operate, which is one reason the school board will ask voters to approve a 50-cent operating tax limit increase—from $1.75 to $2.25 per $100 assessed valuation — for the elementary district in the April 12 election.

All but four of the buses are owned and maintained by the districts. The others are now operated under contract from Pachett's Bus and Transportation Co. but officials plan to replace there with four new ones so that all will be school-owned.

Business Manager Charles L. Condrotte recently told the board the district can operate its own buses for four cents a mile less than the contract cost. But the buses will cost $7,000 each, and the board hinted it might throw out the bids if it does not have the funds.

Pupils who may ride the buses are those from kindergarten through third grade who live more than three-fourths of a mile from school, fourth through eighth graders living more than a mile and half, and high school students who live more than three miles away.

More than 3,200 students ride the 20 buses daily. Drivers follow an intricate, coordinated scheduling to dovetail with school opening and dismissal times.

Cost of operating the bus system, according to district officials, rose from $52,500 in the 1959-60 school year to $111,700 in 1963-64. The number of riders into the same period jumped from 1,693 to 2,660 per day.

Part of the cost is returned by the state, which reimbursed the districts $27,000 in 1963-64.

The buses are used for field trips and athletic trips as well as daily transportation.

Registration Set For Kindergarten

Registration of children who will enter kindergarten in the San Rafael School District this fall will be held at district elementary schools April 6-8 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Children born on or before Dec. 2, 1960, are eligible to enter kindergarten under the legal age requirements. Birthdates must be substantiated by a birth certificate or baptismal certificate, to be presented at registration.

Sausalito Trustees Want To Keep Present Tax Rate

Sausalito School District voters are not being asked for more money in the April 20 election. Instead, district trustees have asked for a simple majority approval to continue the present temporary tax rate ceiling for three more years.

The base tax rate maximum now is $2.25 per $100 assessed property valuation. This year, the district actually levies only $2.04 on the base rate, plus overrides for bonds and retirement that bring the total to $2.27.

However, the permanent maximum rate for the district is only 90 cents. Should the voters fail to extend the present limit, the district would be drastically hurt, Supt. Marcus F. Davis bluntly said recently. Based on the present assessed valuation, the district would lose $300,000 next year—almost half its total income which includes funds from other sources besides local taxes.

The continued $2.25 maximum will allow the district to "get by" for some time without further increases, if the Sausaliti schools are not absorbed by the proposed Tamalpais unification which also will be on the ballot, Marcus predicted.

Without the controversial county reassessment of the Sausalito area last year, the district would have been $80,000 shy in this year's budget—even at the rate ceiling, Marcus noted. The increased tax base, however, enabled the trustees to lower the base rate by 21 cents and still make up the $80,000.

The district trustees will discuss formation of a citizens committee to help publicly explain the tax rate proposal, at their meeting next Monday.
